The Springfield Sun.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF WASHINGTON COUNTY

VOLUME VI. SPRINGFIELD, KY., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1910. NUMBER 46

MANY LIVES AND PROPERTY

Destroyed by the Devastating Fires Recently Ravaging the Northwest.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 10.—Latest reports of the forest fires in the Rainy River region of Minnesota increase the horrors of the situation if not the number of lives lost.

Every settler in the district bounded by the Rainy River and Lake of the Woods on the north to twentyfive miles south of Fort Frances, Ont., and from Spooner and Baudette, Minn., on the east to Warroad, Minn., on the west, who is not accounted for is certain to be dead as there was no escape.

For a distance of fifty miles from Baudette an the Rainey River west to Warroad the woods was a sond mass fire Sunday.

Baudette is only a charred remnant of a town. Spooner is entirely wiped off the earth. Cedar Spur, Gracetor, Pitt, Swift and Roosevelt, mere hamlets, are destroyed.

Stories of wild animals fleeing for safety side by side with human beings, their natural fear and hostility quenched by the horror of the situation, are told showing the desperateness of conditions.

FIRES THIS YEAR

Oct. 10, 1910—Estimated dead, 1,000 to 2,000; missing, more than 2,000; homeless, 5,000, all destitute; towns destroyed, Baudetto, Spooner, Cedar Spur, Gracetor, Pitt, Swift and Roosevelt, Minn. Loss unestimated millions.

May 19 1910—Millions lost in fire around Grand Marias, Minn.

July 20, 1910—Three Forks, Jaffry and Baynes Lake, towns in Canadia terntory, destroyed.

July 22, 1910—One hundred square miles of Alaska timber at head of Howe Sound totally destroyed.

July 22, 1910—Three killed, $40,000 damage done near Albany, Ora.

July 22, 1910—Damage of $500,000 done around Galloway, Gleason and Bloomville, Wis. towns of Heineman, Wis., and Whitewater and McGuigan, Manitoba, destroyed.

Aug. 22, 1910—One hundred persons killed in forea fires that practically destroyed, Wallace, Big Breek, Wareagle Tunnel, Pine Creek and Mullan, all cities and towns of Idaho. Loss, $3,000,000.

Aug. 2, 1908—Two hundred killed, 10,000 made homeless, city Fernie, B. C., towns of Hosmer, Coal Creek, Oisen, Michel and Sparwood destroyed. Loss $20,000,000.

Sept. 1909—Town of Chisholm Pillsbury and Hartley, Minn., destroyed; one killed, 15,000 left homeless. Loss including 25,000,000 feet of timber, $5,000,000. Bayfield, Wis., damaged $75,000.

Oct. 12—Eighteen killed, 2,000 made homeless around Aipena, Mich.

FAIR VIEW.

Mr. J. F. Matherly, daughter and little grandson, Martin L. Arnold, spent Sunday with his parents, at Deep Creek.

Harrison Coyle, wife and little son, Marquis Allen, were the guests of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Coyle, of Springfield, Saturday night and Sunday.

Charlie Coyle and family spent Sunday with his brother, Clarence Coyle.

Miss Lizzie Parks has returned to her sister's at Mackville, after spending a few days with J. M. Harmon's family.

Mrs. Lige Matherly is ill at this writing.

Richard Stewart and wife spent Saturday with Ed Martin.

Mrs. Will Milburn, of this neighborhood, spent several days last week with her sister, Mrs. Mattie Wilson, at Texas, Ky.

John Elliott, wife and little son, spent Saturday night and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bradley.

Bro. Sawyer will fill his regular appointments at Wesley's Chapel, next Sunday morning and evening.

John Edwards left for Wilmore Tuesday morning, where he will reside in the future.

Tommie Matherly spent Thursday night with his grandfather, Lige Matherly, near Deep Creek.

Bro. Hatchett, of Tatham Springs, is assisting Bro. Short in a series of meetings at Pleasant Hill.

Marquis Cocanougher and John Morgan Harmon are about to start on a nutting excursion.

OUR FRIEND THE POTATO

A New Disease That Has Developed Into a Plague In the Contries of Europe.

American farmers are warned by the Department of Agriculture to watch for a new potato malady, which has developed into a plague in Europe. The "oiack scab," "warty," or "cauliflower" disease, starting in Hungary in 1896, has seriously infected Ireland, England, Germany, Scandinavia, France and Italy. It appeared on the North American continent last year in Newfoundland. The keenest lookout must be kept, for where the disease has taken hold no healthy tubers will develop. So insidious is the plague that it not only renders all the soil of a field diseased, but bits of dirt clinging to the boots or implements of a farm hand may carry the pest to uninfected areas. Thereafter the ground will produce unsound crops for a number of years, unless an intelligent system of crop rotation is used to heal the soil. Diseased potatoes should invariably be burned—or, if too wet to burn, should be buried in a hole and covered with unslaked lime. Seed potatoes should never be taken from ailing crops. If the seed is suspected, it should be powdered with sulphur and stored away until planted. Farmers should co operate with the Department of Agriculture by reporting any appearance of the disease, so that it may be kept from fastening itself into American soil.

NEXT MEETING OF THE STATE GRANGE

Next Annual Meeting of Kentucky State Grange to be Held in Winchester.

The Sunday School Convention having come and gone, the next State meeting for Winchester will be that of the State Grange during the latter part of the present month. The Grangers are not a new organizations. For more than a third of a century they have been fighting the battles of the farmer, and gradually their theories are being adopted, even by those who acknowledge no allegiance to the Grange. Before the tobacco pool was thought of the Grangers had demonstratnd that wool, fruits, and other farm products could be sold to the best advantage through cooperation. Long before the ladies had organized the turkey pool, in various Kentucky counties, the Grangers had shown that butter, eggs and other farm produce would bring better prices it sold through regularly organized channels. In fact, the Grange successfully taught all the lessons of farm co-operation that have since been put in practice. Not only along this line, but also in the purchase of supplies, has it been of great benefit the farmer. The dealer can afford to sell cheaper when he sells in large quantities and when payment of his bills is absolutely assured as is the case when purchases are made through the Grange.

It is not often that a State body meets in a city where it has no local organization, but the facilities offered by Winchester and is rapidly growing reputation as a convention city caused it to be selected. The cordial welcome given the Burley Tobacco Society in its infancy and the well known sympathy of our people for everything that has a tendency to help the farmer were also factors in the choice.

They will be with us soon, not loud mouthed demagogues with grievances against other grades of society, nor anarchists ranting about predatory wealth, but representatives of the very salt of the earth, the bone and sinew of our commonwealth, the farming class. They will pay their own way and will ask for no special favors. We bespeak for them a cordial reception and kindly hearing, and that hospitable treatment for which Winchester is justly famous.—Winchester Democrat.

The Tobacco Prospects.

A press dispatch from Danville says: Bradley Wilson, one of the leading speakers and organizers of the Burley Tobacco Society was in Danville to-day and stated that all of the 1909 pooled crop will be sold under the hammer at once even if the price should go dawn to three cents a pound. He does not consider the future outlook for tobacco growers in the Bluegrass section very hopeful. He claims that the growers in the hill country which embraces a very large per cent of the tobacco producers of the State will crowd the Bluegrass growers out of the industry as they can produce the weed so much cheaper, the land at the outset being low priced and labor in the hill section is likewise lower. The pool is stronger in the hill counties and those growers are said to be sore because the Bluegrass farms are taking so little interest in the pool and are willing to throw their crop on the market at very low prices.

KENTUCKY VERBIAGE

An English Visitor Declares That the Anglo-Saxon Language is Well Spoken in Kentucky

The following paragraph from an English periodical, printed under a foreign flag, possibly would find challenge in Boston:

A wealthy and scholarly but rather eccentric Englishman, who has been traveling extensively in quest of the place or region where "the best English is spoken," gives it as his opinion that the purest English pronunciation is to be heard among the educated people of the State of Kentucky!

The population of Kentucky is nearly pure Anglo Saxon; and it is possible that this man conversed with John G. Carlisle, whose English was as simple as Dean Swift's, or with Proctor Knott, whose English is as ornate as Burke's, or with Wm. C. P. Breckenridge, whose English was as elegant as Congreve's, or with Henry Watterson, who out styles Thackeray.

A great French author, perhaps the greatest who wrote that tongue, declared that Lord Bolingbroke spoke better French than Voltaire wrote; and it is a fact that Carl Schurz, when a senator in Congress, spoke purer English than Thurman, or Sumner, or Conkling, Carpenter, or Edmunds. There are many variations of the English tongue all the way from Samuel Johnson, of the polysyllable, to Daniel Defoe, of the monosyllable. It is the language of Shakespeare and of Milton. Chaucer had much to do in the making of it, and Gladstone showed the glories of it.

And for law and letters, nothing in this world has yet equaled the tongue of Bacon, Pope or Poe. It was never so vigorous as now, and its supremacy is assured.

BAD EFFECTS OF THE WANDERLUST

Strikes a Young Springfield Boy Who Hits the "Old Man's" Pocketbook and Lights Out.

Raymond Shoemaker, 16 years old, a son of Gabriel Shoemaker, a wealthy farmer, who lives near here, was arrested in Jeffersonville last week as a suspect. He later gave his name and that of his father, who was communicated with by Capt. Mike A. Wall. Instructions were given to send the boy home. When searched it was found that the boy had a pair of new opera glasses, a small gold watch and $20 in money. He said he had purchased the opera glasses in Louisville for the purpose of going to a show to see the girls.

After he recovered from his fright at being arrested he said he had been attending school at Springfield, five miles from his home, and decided the town was too slow. He had a boy friend in Bloomington, Ill., and concluded he would go there to see him. Accordingly he took a $20 bill belonging to his father and added this to his own funds, $10, and started for Bloomington. In Louisville he spent part of the money and then crossed to Jeffersonville. After being arrested he said he believed he had seen enough of the world and was willing to go back home.

It is in time of sudden mishap or accident that Chamberlain's Liniment can be relied upon to take the place of the family doctor, who cannot always be found at the moment. Then it is that Chamberlain's Liniment is never found wanting. In cases of sprains, cuts, wounds and bruises Chamberlain's Liniment takes out the soreness and drives away the pain. Sold by all druggists.

TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE

Of Two of Springfield's Gay, Young Lotharios on Sunday Last—Heart-breaking Domestic Episode.

Perhaps one of the most heart-rending affairs that has happened in Washington county for many years occurred Sunday last. 'Twas thusly: Two lively young sports of this wide-awake burg essayed a trip in the country on the above date and incidentally to pay a visit to a young lady, of whom both appeared to be enamored. We will call them Tom and Jerry for short.

As they journeyed Jerry was dropped at the fair inamorita's dwelling, and Tom proceeded to a neighboring town, returning later. Now, Tom was as badly smitten with the fair damsel's charms as was Jerry, and supposed that he had worked into her affections so far that Jerry had no show at all, so he allowed him the best part of the day to "make good,"—if he could.

When Tom arrived in the evening and was ushered in, the proverbial maxim, dear to the hearts of lovesick swains, "Two's company, but three's a crowd" was soon realized, and the fair young creature after listening to the platitudes of the two intoxicated (with love, not whiskey) lovers, decided she had all she could assimilate, and politely excusing herself, retired for a few moments, leaving our Don Juans holding down the sofa. After she had gone, the pair began to compare notes. Jerry chuckled, and said to Tom: "Say, kid, you ain't in it—I'm the only simon pure Johnny-on-the-spot article 'round here. Sorry, kid, but you didn't think she'd care for anything of your brand while I was around. I've won out, dear boy, and we're engaged. Ha! ha!"

"Aw, come off," says Tom, "She's the truest, sweetest little angel alive. I know I've got her all right. Got the engagement ring in my clothes."

Half an hour elapsed and as the dear girl had not returned they concluded to make some inquiries, and going out to her mother asked if she knew anything of her daughter's whereabouts, but she professed ignorance. The boys had not noticed a buggy driving up to the front door while they were arguing the point but upon this trivial incident hangs the climax to this horrible tale. While engaged in a search for the missing damsel they encountered an almost breathless colored lady, hurrying into the house, who exclaimed excitedly: "Clar to goodness Mis' ef dat gal ob you s ain't done gone an' run off an' er an' got married to somebody. Yas'm, I done see dem."

From Jerry—What's that?

From Tom—"It's a base falsehood."

"No, sah! No, sah! I done seed 'em."

Mamma faints!

Tom weeps!

Jerry shivels!

Cat howls!

Tableau. Exeunt all. Curtain.

And so it happened—this tactical young lady—just sweet sixteen—had pulled the wool over the eyes of the whole bunch and eloped with the other fellow.

Moral—Kids don't cut much ice on such occasions if there's a smart man around with a buggy and a license.

FOR CONSTIPATION.

A Medicine That Does Not Cost Anything Unless It Cures.

The active medicinal ingredients of Rexall Orderlies, which are odorless, tasteless and colorless, is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other extremely valuable ingredients, it forms a perfect bowel regulator, intestinal invigorator and strengthener. Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy and are notable for their agreeableness to the palate and gentleness of action. They do not cause griping or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience.

Unlike other preparations for a like purpose, they do not create a habit, but instead they overcome the cause of habit acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathartics and harsh physic, and permanently remove the cause of constipation or irregular bowel action.

We will refund your money without argument if they do not do as we say they will. Two sizes, 25c, and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall store. The Haydon & Willett Drug Co.

THE TERRIBLE WHITE PLAGUE

A Traveling Anti-Tuberculosis Exhibit to be Sent Out as an Object Lesson.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Association for the study and prevention of Tuberculosis, held at the Seelbach hotel recently, it was decided that the Association will equip and send out through the State a traveling tuberculosis exhibit, which will show the people, in the form of graphic charts and models, the extent of tuberculosis in Kentucky and to inaugurate protection against this great white plague. Eugene Kerner, secretary of the State Association, states that there are annually over 6,500 deaths from tuberculosis in the State and that there are about 20,000 cases extant in the commonwealth to-day.

The committee argues that such an exhibit will do a great amount of good and will bring the salient points concerning tuberculosis and the best methods for its prevention before people who would not be reached in any other way. In connection with the exhibit there will be illustrated lectures by physicians and others and a special effort will be made to enlist the active co-operation of the teachers in each community, and thus get the first principles of prevention into the minds of the children.

NEED MORE PRETTY TEACHERS

Washington and Oregon Sending Out a Cry For Schoolma'ms —Fine Field for Good-Lookers.

The cry comes from the northwest, especially from Washington and Oregon, for more school teachers. Those who go there marry so fast that the demand for female teachers is always greater than the supply. This may be a scheme to get pretty schoolmarms to come to those states, by stating the possibilities, (eventualities.) If so, it is a pretty good one. At any rate some of them will try it, especially those whose charms have not been fully recognized at home. Good teachers are in demand everywhere, however, while women from which to select wives are as thick as leaves in Vallambrosa or Kentucky, especially in and around Springfield. Nowhere in the world can fairer women be found than in "Old Kaintuck."

Family Reunion.

The twentieth annual reunion of the Thomas H. and Sarah T. Williams' family met on Thursday, Oct. 6, at the home of Samuel Walter Williams near Springfield, to celebrate the birthday of the mother, Mrs. Sarah T. Williams.

Mrs. Williams departed this life in May 1890 at the age of seventy-two years, leaving five boys besides her husband, Thos. H., who survived her but a few years. There now remain only three of the children, Rev. J. H., Jesse R. and Samuel W. Williams. It was decided two years ago that the reunion should continue to meet at Bardstown so long as the invalid brother, Dr. T. D. Williams should live. After his death in February last the reunion took up its regular order of meeting, running according to the ages of the sons.

Notwithstanding a continuous down pour of rain on Thursday the meeting was well attended.

Those present were: Rev. and Mrs. Jas. Williams, of Paris, Ky. Jesse R. Williams and wife, of Maple Hill, Mrs. Kate Williams, Maple Hill, Mrs. Theresa Wilhams, Bardstown, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Brown, Bardstown, Mrs. Mattie Bussey, Louisville, Mr. and Mrs. Tyan Sale, Mackville, Mrs. Eliza Mitchell and son Ed, Litsey, Ky., Mr. and Mrs C. M. Williams and son, Thos. Dewson, Maple Hill, Mr. Bruce Williams and sons, Holding and Hugh Santord and J. B., of Mooresville, Misses Sue and Kate Rubel, of Mooresville, Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Williams, New Hope, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Newton Arnold, Mt. Zion, Mrs. Marvin Williams and daughter, Roraine, of Louisville, Mrs. Joe N. Hays and son, Edson, of Mt. Zion, Messrs. Reed and Lagan Crume, Springfield and visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hardesty, of Washington County.

The reunion adjourned to meet next Oct. 6, at the residence of Mrs. Theresa Williams, of Bardstown.

Senator Root for Chief Justice.

Washington, Oct. 12.—There is much interest here to-day in the story that Elihu Root is to be appointed Chief Justice of the Supreme Court if the Republicans carry New York and if Colonel Roosevelt agrees to support representative William Bennett to succeed Root as Senator from New York.

OUR COTTON STILL KING

Staple Money Crop of the Country Has Been Prime Factor in Our Commercial Rise.

The Houston Post figures from the present outlook that Texas will produce something like one-third of the total crop of the United States, and the indications are that high prices will again prevail during the market season. In view of the fact that the total crop of 1909 sold for more than $800,000,000, it would appear that there continues to be much truth in the saying that "Cotton is King," and that Texas gives its chief support to its claim to the title.

In this connection the Southern Commercial Congress has compiled statistics showing that it is the cotton crop of the south that has enabled the United States to maintain the balance of trade for nearly 120 years.

The total value of all exports from the United States during the period from 1790 to the fiscal year ended with June of last year amounted practically to $48,000,000,000—a sum so large that it is difficult to comprehend it. The total balance in favor of the United States during this period we are told has been $6,436,114,566.

The Commercial congress further tells us that the gold brought back to the United States in payment of our cotton crop amounted to $13,599,353,086, and it should be borne in mind that this was merely in payment for our raw cotton. The manufactured goods, the cotton seed and the cotton seed oil, which have attained to large proportions in value during recent years, are left out of the reckoning altogether.

It is easy to see, says the Washington Times, in commenting on these figures, that if it had not been for the cotton crop of the south the balance of trade would have been against us all these years. It is the staple crop of the country and has played a conspicuous part in bringing the United States to the commercial prosperity it now enjoys. And all of this has been accomplished without affording the staple any of the protection which, under favored tariff schedules, has helped to enrich the states of the east at the expense of the cotton producers of the south.

IT GROWS HAIR.

Here Are Facts We Want You To Prove at Our Risk.

Marvelous as it may seem, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course, in none of these cases were the hair roots dead, nor had the scalp taken on a glazed, shiny appearance.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are generally responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is almost pleasant toilet necessity, is delicately perfumed, and will not gum or permanently stain the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair, and in every way give satisfaction, simply come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. Sold only at our store—The Rexall store. The Haydon & Willett Drug Co.

The pleasant purgative effect experienced by all who use Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and the healthy condition of body and mind which they create, makes one feel joyful. Sold by all druggists.

The Springfield Sun

H. L. SMITH, Editor and Publisher.

SPRINGFIELD, - KENTUCKY.

An early and severe winter is predicted. This is cold comfort.

New York is the second city in the world, but it feels big as the first.

The redeeming feature about the pictured bobble skirt is its impossibility.

Alcohol is a necessity in paint. It seem to have a special affinity for red paint.

Whose business it is, anyway, what particular variety of hat you choose to wear?

The man who said summer is over is hunting his old straw hat in the ash barrel.

The government is advertising for a xylotomist. If you know a good one tell him about it.

Here's a centenarian who swears off on liquor and tobacco. It's never too late, you know.

Infant paralysis is no respector of age. It has just killed a woman of sixty-six in Connecticut.

Pittsburg man invents an apparatus for forecasting earthquakes. No family should be without one.

Count Zeppelin's airships can never increase their popularity by making a specialty of blowing up.

What a fine opening that alligator swimming at large in Paw Paw lake offers to ambitious bathers!

Market report announces, "Eggs strong at 32 cents a dozen." How much for those that are not?

A fund to pension aged and worn-out authors is suggested. Why not pension worn-out readers?

The man who "always gets up at daylight in the summer time" does it because the flies won't let him sleep any longer.

According to advices counterfeit fifty-dollar bills are being circulated, but fortunately most of us are out of the danger zone.

A $60,000 bulldog has died in England, and there is to be a post-mortem investigation. It is an important thing to be a $60,000 bulldog.

Emperor William is a man of stubborn opinions. He still sticks to the divine right of kings and to his belief that he can write an opera.

A western minister informs us that automobile speeders never go to heaven. Probably the golden streets are policed too well to attract them.

New York plans to spend over $4,000,000 for its health next year. As that is less than $1 for each New Yorker, it would seem to be worth the money.

It has been estimated that the average American eats 82 pounds of sugar every year. Now we'd like to know how many pounds he pays for to get that quantity.

The astronomers who are trying to work up another comet scare are hereby politely but firmly advised that the public is disillusioned now about anything coming back.

The bobble skirt, according to one of the fashion journals, "will die a natural death." Having seen it in action, we are afraid some of its wearers will not be so fortunate.

"The grasshopper serves no useful purpose," declares a scientist. Indeed! Did the scientist ever go out after small-mouth bass in August when the bass wouldn't bite on green frogs?

The aviating joy ride has been inaugurated. This should be nipped in the bud. With aviation going on in a scientific and respectable manner it will upset aerial travel at the start to have reckless aviators darting along through space, ready to collide with any other old aeroplane which may happen along, or to drop on unsuspecting pedestrians without warning.

In actual warfare the dropping of a dynamite bomb down the funnels of a battleship from an aeroplane would doubtless cause serious internal complications on the part of the battleship. But also the planting of a one to three inch shot in the motor or steering apparatus of the aeroplane would doubtless disorganize the airship belligerent. It is all a question of which gets its projectile properly located first.

A parachute performer in red tights frightened the Rockefeller estate by descending on it from the air and was carefully carried outside the gate Perhaps they thought it was the Titian-haired siren, whose recent discovery has so perturbed the oil trust.

A young woman in New York tried to kill herself because editors would not publish her poetry. If that were cause for suicide, half the present population of the country would long ago have ceased making a show in the census returns.

ROUND ABOUT THE STATE

MOST IMPORTANT NEWS GATHERED FROM ALL PARTS OF KENTUCKY

The forty-fifth annual session of the Kentucky Union Sunday-school association closed at Winchester Sunday, October 9. The attendance was not as large as was expected on account of the excessive rains about the beginning of the session and the washouts on some of the roads in the western part of the state. The meeting has been highly successful, and those in charge of matters are very much pleased with the results. About $800 was raised for carrying on the work besides the usual assessments.

The work of the day began with an early morning meeting, conducted by Dr. Henry Sweets, of Louisville. No further session was held during the morning, the delegates attending the various Sunday-schools and services of the city churches. In the afternoon a service for children was held, conducted by Miss Nannie Lee Frazier, of Louisville. This was followed by a mass meeting, at which short talks were made. In the evening the Rev. T. W. Tinitt, of Danville, made an address on "Improving Our Standards." He was followed by Dr. W. C. Pearce, of Chicago, on "Convention Impressions." The closing speech was by Rev. George Joplin, "We Are Going Home."

The invitation of the Louisville Commercial club to hold the next annual session in that city was accepted. The annual election of officers resulted as follows:

President, Judge Ed C. O'Rear, of Frankfort; vice president, J. B. Weaver, of Louisville; treasurer, Clarence Watkins, Louisville; general secretary, Rev. George A. Joplin, Louisville; field workers, Rev. T. C. Gebauer, of Henderson, and W. J. Vaughn, Louisville; office secretary, Miss Frances J. Gregsby, Louisville.

State superintendents were named as follows:

Elementary division, Miss Nannie Lee Frazier, Louisville; intermediate division, Miss Madeline Reager, Louisville; adult division, Prof. W. J. McGlothlin, D. D., Louisville; visitation work, Herman Bowmar, Versailles; organization, the Rev. C. E. Crafton, Winchester; state committee, class of 1913, M. S. Booker, Louisville; Rev. C. F. Kriete, Louisville; Rev. Henry H. Sweets, D. D., Louisville; Ed F. Weistein, Louisville; George Stoll, Louisville; Evan S. Rees, Louisville; Rev. J. P. Strother, Danville; George H. Frank, Maysville; M. T. McEldowney, Winchester.

GEORGETOWN DRY.

Court of Appeals Affirms Decision of Lower Court.

Frankfort.—As a result of the court of appeals affirming the judgment of the Scott circuit court in the case of J. G. Cole, etc., against G. H. Nunnelley, etc., Georgetown will be dry, as the court holds that the drys carried Georgetown at the last local option election by a majority of two votes. After the last local option election the drys claimed to have carried the election by a majority of three votes and were by a majority of one vote, but a contesting board threw out the contested vote, leaving a vote of 529 for and against whisky, making the result a tie. The case was then taken into circuit court, and the result was that the drys won, the court holding that the drys had a majority of two votes. In this opinion the court holds that in elections held under secret ballots the votes must be cast secretly unless the voters are blind or disabled, and in that event the votes must be cast in the presence of the election officers. The court holds that the election officers can not carry the ballot to the voters who remain in vehicles, and then have those votes counted.

NEW LOUISVILLE BRIDGE

Is Discussed By Kentucky and Indiana Board of Directors.

Louisville, Ky.—The directors of the Kentucky and Indiana Bridge Co. met here for the purpose of discussing plans for the construction of the new $2,000,000 bridge over the Ohio river and the increasing of terminal facilities. Those present were: Judge Alex Humphrey, president of the company; Fairfax Harrison, president of the Monon route; H. B. Spencer, vice president of the Southern railway; E. E. Trabue, counsel for the Monon, and George H. Campbell, of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern.

Lexington.—The Confederate Veterans' association of Kentucky is not to be disbanded, as was proposed in a resolution offered at a meeting some months ago and laid over for consideration. On the motion of Maj. P. J. Johnston, seconded by Judge J. C. Lyons, the veterans at a meeting decided to continue their organization so long as one of their number is alive, and it was further decided that when there remains only one whatever funds the association may have shall be appropriated by that one and used by the solitary survivor for a celebration.

SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Judge T. L. Henritze Falls Down Steps at Middlesboro.

Middlesboro.—Judge T. L. Henritze, a prominent attorney of this city, fell down the steps leading from his office, sustaining fatal injuries. He was picked up at the foot of the steps unconscious with blood flowing from his mouth, nose, ears and eyes. Physicians say he can not possibly recover. He is supposed to have tripped on his cane as he started down the steps.

Judge Henritze was one of Kentucky's representatives in the American Bar association, which met at Chattanooga recently. He is an influential Democrat and interested in several business enterprises. He was formerly from Welch, W. Va.

Kentucky Flashes

Winchester.—The retail merchants of Central Kentucky are organizing a wholesale grocery company, which will prove of great benefit to them. The object of the organization is to take the place of the jobber, thereby cutting out the middle man's profit. The company is to be organized by 100 merchants taking $200 worth of stock, the money thus raised going into a fund to buy such groceries as are handled by the members of the company. The distributor of these goods, whose headquarters will be at Winchester, will send the merchants a price list each week and the merchant can send in his order from same. It is claimed that by this method the goods can be sent from the producer to the retailer at a cost of 3 per cent, whereas it costs from 10 per cent to 40 per cent for it to go through the hands of the jobber.

Lexington. — While working his horses at the trotting track, the veteran driver and trainer, Mike Bowerman, was stricken with paralysis and carried to his home in an unconscious condition. Mr. Bowerman is one of the oldest drivers on the trotting turf, and has driven many horses to fast records. He drove General Watts to a world's record for a three-year-old (2:06¾) here several years ago, which record stood until broken by Colorado E this summer.

Russellville.—At a meeting of business men of Russellville held at the courthouse an organization of a commercial club was perfected by the election of Judge Gaines Cooksey as president, J. D. Evans first vice president and S. V. Freedom second vice president, and a board of directors, composed of S. J. Browning, J. C. Browder, Ed Johnson, H. H. Rice, S. W. Limbaugh and J. V. Walker.

Somerset.—While setting the Zollicoffer monument to mark the grave of Gen. Zollicoffer the bullet that killed this brave Confederate officer is believed to have been found. It was found on the exact spot where Gen Zollicoffer was killed and where the monument will be placed. The heavy rains of late had washed the earth and the ball was found buried in the ground.

Danville.—Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Parrish, on their wedding tour, passed through here en route from their home in Indianapolis, Ind., to Atlanta, Ga. They were making the trip on a motorcycle, and both were riding the same machine. Before returning to Indianapolis they expect to cover a trip of several thousand miles.

Lexington.—The 1910 session of the Grand lodge I. O. O. F. of Kentucky is in session in the Auditorium here. There are at least 800 representatives from the 192 subordinate lodges throughout the state in attendance at this session of the Grand lodge.

Frankfort.—Ed Gordin, sentenced to life imprisonment for killing W. Covert, in Bell county, was pardoned by Acting Gov. Cox. Gordin was paroled about ten years ago, after serving nine years, but for a slight offense was returned to the penitentiary. Acting Gov. Cox said Covert made a dying statement that Gordin did not fire the shot that killed him.

Maysville.—By a timely discovery the attempt to burn the plant of the Messenger Publishing Co. was prevented. The unknown person who applied the torch broke through the rear door and poured large quantities of coal oil over the floor, papers and machinery. Pedestrians passing the street gave the alarm before the fire had gained much head way, and thereby saved a disastrous loss to property.

Mt. Sterling.—Mrs. Mariah Crawford, one of the most widely known women in this section, was found dead in bed at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Howard French, in this city. It is supposed her death was caused by hemorrhage due to a violent coughing spell. Mrs. Crawford was 78 years of age and was one of the older residents of the city. Besides her daughter she is survived by one son, James Crawford, of Columbus, Ga.

Jamestown.—John H. Smith, of the firm of J. H. Smith & Co., doing business at Font Hill, died at his home. He was a prosperous merchant and farmer. He was about 40 years of age and a Royal Arch Mason.

Henderson.—Mrs. Zorah J Eblen was acquitted of the charge that she murdered her husband, Bein W. Eblen, whom she shot after she found him, according to her testimony, in the embrace of a negro cook. Eblen, his wife testified, attempted to assault her, when she fired.

Bishop Woodcock, of Louisville, was one of the principal guests at the dinner given to the delegates to the triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal church by the Cincinnati Brotherhood of St. Andrew and in Cincinnati this week.

Winter Hats

HATTERS' plush, velvet and leaves will probably divide the honors of popularity during the coming winter. All furry surfaces are in great demand among those who are making ready for the winter the enticing millinery which never fails to fill our eyes with beauty and our hearts with longing. Milliners are busy in the dog days buying their stocks and by the first of October they will launch out into the business stream prepared to show their patrons the best millinery that has been produced for many a season.

The winter hats are good from the viewpoint of shape, size, material, and workmanship. The colorings are rich and elegant, there is an absence of overtrimming, and in the majority the size is not exaggerated. Ostrich plumes and fancy feathers, Persian draperies and metal tissues play the conspicuous parts in their trimming. The shapes of hatter's plush are large and picturesque, as a rule, and trimmed with masses of ostrich plumes, five being a conservative number for one hat. Fur hats, on the other hand, are turban shape, and by comparison with the average size, to which we have become accustomed, they may be called small. Beavers are medium or large, and trimmed in many ways. The trimming is selected with regard to the age of the wearer, for the beaver hat is no respecter of ages, and is worn by the little miss and the mature matron.

Three examples of this thoroughly practical hat are shown here. A pretty turban shape is finished with a single broad plume and Persian silk fashioned into an ornament and drape. This Persian shows touches of gold. The hat is in tones of blue and green belonging to the peacock colorings.

A lovely tricorn in black and white is trimmed with a plush ornament and a spray of short white and black half plumes mounted three in the cluster. A smart black aigrette garnishes the pompon trimming.

A he large shape in a petunia color is designed for a miss, and is therefore simply trimmed with a big bow made of shaded moire ribbon. The lines of the flat shape are almost unbroken.

These hats have much to recommend them. They are durable and comfortable, as well as pretty and fashionable. The fortunate possessor of a last year's beaver will find it easy to remodel, and the hat is a good investment. JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

BUTTONS ARE OF ALL KINDS

Wide Selection Possible This Season for Those Fond of This Kind of Ornament.

Pearl buttons lead in favor as trimmings and for practical use in the fall styles. They are in white, black, mother-of-pearl and dyed shades. Most of these buttons are very large, nearly all in 18 and 20 line sizes.

Demiglobe and cup shapes are seen, with false eyes or black-rimmed eyelets. Often the artificial ivory buttons are dyed in two colors, or in black and a color.

Metal buttons, like metal passementeries, are largely Byzantine in effect. Dull brown, antique gold and silver and hammered copper are some of the effects shown, usually in shell pattern.

Glass and enamel buttons show animal figures—polar bears, wolves, dogs, etc.—mounted in silver. These are especially designed for fur coats. A few porcelain buttons are also shown, painted in Egyptian patterns.

Among novelties, pendants, in imitations of jewels, and small black and red glass buttons are offered.

NEW WAIST MODEL.

This charming new model is of blue silk voile. The front and bretelles are of silk embroidery of the same shade, and the corselet is of blue liberty.

The short sleeves are cut in one piece with the body of the waist, and are finished with bands of the embroidery over puffs of white muslin.

CHARM IN PERFECT VOICE

Probably No One Thing Is More Worth Cultivating Than Pure Musical Tone.

Many women overlook the fact that nothing betokens true refinement more unerringly than a pure, earnest, well modulated voice, free from affectation. In fact, it is in the voice that the secret of the charm of many women lies.

Not every person may have the advantage of lessons in elocution, but every person who will may cultivate a pure tone and a pleasant voice.

The first step in learning to talk well is to breathe correctly.

Let your tones be clear and as musical as you can produce them. Did you ever hear a person speak the name of Brown so that it sounded really musical?

Most people pronounce it with the throat almost closed and from the front of the mouth. There must be a resonance in the voice.

Do not waste your breath in speaking, but let your last tone be as distinct as the first.

Listen yourself when you speak and catch the first false note.

Do not speak in monotone, but modulate your voice to give expression, just as you would follow the signs in music.

Pitch your voice to suit the time and place—not so low as to appear secret, nor so high as to seem bold and nervous.

The Vogue of Satin.

"Satin," says a Paris authority, "is used for everything that a woman could carry."

That includes handbags, scarfs, parasols, bands on long gloves, the new reticules in our grandmothers' style, fans, everything—all appear in heavy satin, usually in black or in black and white.

So look carefully to that material for all your dress accessories.

Black and White Eton.

Among the new eton suits sent out by the Paris dressmakers may be noted cream-colored moire suits with square black sailor collars of mousseline de soie, and also black satin suits with white cloth sailor collars, finished with a double row of gilt buttons down the front of the short jacket.

In black and white fabric combinations white silk with a black velvet stripe has been seen.

ACT PROMPTLY.

Kidney troubles are too dangerous to neglect. Little disorders grow serious and the sufferer is soon in the grasp of diabetes, dropsy or fatal Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills cure all distressing kidney ills. They make sick kidneys well, weak kidneys strong.

E. C. McClanahan, Market St., New Richmond, O., says: "Kidney disease had almost brought me to my grave. I was rendered almost helpless and suffered agony. My feet were so badly swollen I could not walk. The kidney secretions were thick and painful in voiding. I doctored but steadily grew weaker. I then used Doan's Kidney Pills and gradually improved. They saved my life."

Remember the name—Doan's.

For sale by all dealers. 50 cents a box.

Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

MEAN INSINUATION.

Miss Lively—Isn't it strange that baseball players are seldom sunstruck?

Mr. Fussy—Not necessarily. Sunstroke is an affection of the brain.

When Woman's Work Is Done.

Somebody said, "Woman's work is never done." Anything that emancipates her from this form of slavery is hailed with joy. This is the reason for the constantly increasing popularity of "Easy Task Soap," the hard, white, pure laundry soap, that does half the work of wash-day by itself. Add to this the fact that it positively does not rot or streak the clothes, that it launders laces, linens, flannels, silks, bedding, table cloths and all fabrics perfectly, and you will understand why it should be in your house right away.

His Inalienable Right.

When Willie goes to school next week he will have a new teacher.

The new teacher will like Willie when she begins to know him, but the process may take several terms.

Willie's teacher began to like him just before the close of the school year, and she testified to her affection by offering him a pocketknife.

"There, Willie," she said, "you have tried so hard to be a good boy that I am going to give you this nice four-bladed pocketknife—but you must promise me never to cut the school furniture with it."

"Take it back, teacher," said Willie, sadly.—Cleveland Plaindealer.

Experience Teaches.

"Sure, and Oi t'ink it pays to be honest, afther all," said Pat. "Oi troled thot phoneyweight business in my grocery shore lasht year, and Oi losht money by it."

"How so? Did you get found out?" asked his friend.

"No, sorr," returned Pat. "Oi made the mistake of fillin' me weights wid lead, so thot ivery mon thot come to me for wan pound of sugar got twinty-three ounces to the pound."—Harper's Weekly.

Indefinite.

"I am positive this actress buys her puffs."

"Which ones—newspaper or hairdresser's?"

A careless philosopher says a man never knows who his friends are until he hasn't any.

One genius is about all the average family can afford.

Post Toasties

A bowl of these crisp fluffy bits served with cream or milk is something not soon forgotten.

What's the use of cooking breakfast or lunch when Post Toasties, ready to serve direct from the package, are so delicious?

"The Memory Lingers"

POSTUM CEREAL CO., LTD., Battle Creek, Mich.

KENTUCKY GLEANINGS

WHAT IS GOING ON IN DIFFERENT SECTIONS OF THE COMMONWEALTH

FOR NEW COURTHOUSE.

Campaign Opened With Several Speeches at Shelbyville.

Shelbyville.—The opening guns in the campaign recently inaugurated by a concerted movement of some of the leading farmers of Shelby county, in conjunction with the Business Men's association, for a new $75,000 courthouse, were fired when Circuit Judge Charles C. Marshall, County Judge Ralph Gilbert, Col. Harry Weissinger, W. J. Thomas and others delivered addresses advocating the proposed bond issue, to be voted on at the ensuing November election.

From this time on it is the intention of the citizens behind the movement to wage a whirlwind campaign, in which speeches will be made in every precinct, and all means used to create a sentiment which will result in a new temple of justice more in keeping with the rank Shelby holds in the list of the wealthy counties of the state.

COURTS DECIDES

That Wendling Must Be Tried in the Kentucky Court.

Louisville, Ky.—Judge Gregory, in the criminal court here, has overruled a motion of attorneys for Joseph Wendling, the alleged murderer of Alma Kellner, to transfer his case to the federal court, and the demurrer to the indictments.

In his decision Judge Gregory held that the Jefferson circuit court has jurisdiction of the case and that the claim of counsel that he is entitled, under the state constitution and the constitution of the United States, to a trial by a jury composed of six alien Frenchmen, natives of his own country, and six Americans was held to not apply to the case at bar.

The case was set for trial November 21. A writ of habeas corpus sum causa will be asked for the federal court by J. Reginald Clements, attorney for Wendling.

GOVERNOR REFUSES PARDON.

Matthew Carroll Will Be Tried for the Fourth Time.

Frankfort.—Before leaving for Harvard university Gov. Willson refused to pardon Matthew Carroll, of Bell county, who goes on trial for the fourth time for killing Will Begly several years ago, with a chair, in Middlesboro.

Begly was about to stab Carroll's cousin when Carroll struck and killed him. Gov. Willson says that if Carroll was close enough to hit Begly with a chair he should have caught hold of his hand.

The state board of pharmacy won a victory in the court of appeals when the case of Katzman vs. Commonwealth from Jefferson was affirmed. The effect of the decision is that a druggist can not sell morphine or other poisons to anyone except upon the prescription of a physician. Katzman is a druggist and he was indicted upon information furnished the commonwealth through the state board of pharmacy, for selling morphine to a man without the written prescription of a physician and without satisfying himself that the poison was to be used for legitimate purposes. Attorneys for Katzman contended that the words "retail" and "legitimate purposes," as used in Section 2630 of the Kentucky statutes, were too indefinite and uncertain, and, therefore, the statute is invalid. The court here in an exhaustive opinion by Judge Carroll says the language of the statute is sufficiently specific and upholds the fine imposed on Katzman.

It is charged by the officials of the Fidelity Trust Co. that Ropke's actual defalcations amount to $1,401,000, but the indictments do not cover near that amount and other indictments likely to be returned will not, for it is stated by Lorraine Mix, assistant commonwealth attorney, that indictments will only be returned for alleged defalcations during the present year.

Elkton.—The Todd county fair came to its final close. In the combined sweepstake $100 ring, Wilson Bros., of Cave City, won first premium; B. P. Eubank, of Hopkinsville, second; J. S. Ray, Auburn, third, and W. A. Dickinson, Trenton, fourth. For the finest stall of horses shown under the halter, Wilson Bros. won first, J. S. Ray second, John Daly, of Franklin, third.

Whitesburg.—John B. Cornett, aged 66 years, of Dry Fork, died there after a brief illness of blood poisoning. He received a wound several years ago in the leg, which continually gave him much pain and at last resulted in blood poisoning and death.

Carlisle.—Arrangements have been made for the annual agricultural fair which will be held here October 15. A large premium list has been offered by local merchants and preparations have been made to entertain one of the largest crowds ever seen here. Agricultural products from all over Nicholas county will be exhibited.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL CONVENTION.

Forty-Fifth Annual Meeting Held at Winchester.

Winchester.—The 45th annual convention of the Kentucky Union Sunday-school association convened here. Owing to the heavy fall of rain the attendance at the initial meeting was not so large as was expected. This association represents the Sunday-schools of all denominations in the state, composing about 4,200 schools, and delegates are here from at least 100 counties.

The sessions were held in the spacious new building of the First Christian church, with a seating capacity of 1,200 to 1,500. The music was under the direction of E. O. Excell, the great musical composer of Chicago, and the accompanist was Alvin W. Roper, one of the world's greatest pianists, who was the pianist at the world's convention at Washington. Two of the world's greatest secretaries were here, W. C. Pearce, who is at the head of the great adult Bible class movement, and Dr. Franklin McElfresh, who has charge of the teachers' training work of America.

The exercises on the opening day consisted of the welcome address by Rev. C. E. Crafton, of this city, and the president's annual address, by M. H. Baker, of Louisville. Huston Quinn, of Louisville, chairman of the state executive committee, spoke on "Another Year." Rev. Geo. A. Joplin, state secretary, delivered an address on "Kentucky Sunday-schools," and the exercises closed with an address on "America's Responsibilities," by John Stites, of Louisville, president of the International Sunday-school association.

ALL READY FOR REUNION.

Confederate Survivors of "Orphan Brigade" to Meet at Franklin.

Franklin.—Everything was in readiness for the greatest reunion in the history of that famous Confederate command, the "Orphan Brigade." Besiders "wearers of the gray" from all over the Kentucky, many attended from over the border in Tennessee.

Many distinguished Confederate officers, including Gen. Bennett H. Young and Gen. W. B. Haldeman, of Louisville, were in attendance.

A large delegation of "Orphans" from Louisville was among the early arrivals.

Gen. W. B. Haldeman, editor of the Louisville Times, responded to the address of welcome at the reunion. Gen. Haldeman is very popular in Simpson county, having often visited friends here.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Aged Spencer Woman Victim of Acute Indigestion.

Taylorsville.—Miss Rogenia Cochran, aged 75 years, died at the home of her brother, W. N. Cochran, near Waterford. She went to Waterford recently to attend the centennial at the Plum Creek Baptist church, of which she was a member 62 years.

She attended the regular service there and seemed to be in a better state of health than usual until after supper, when she had an attack of acute indigestion, from which she died in a few hours. Her home was in Taylorsville with her nephews, Charles P. Polk and Matthew Polk.

PYTHIANS ADJOURNED.

Shelbyville.—The Grand lodge of the Knights of Pythias before adjournment voted down an amendment to the constitution, which provided that hereafter all meetings should be held either in Louisville or Lexington, but it was ordered that Lexington should be the meeting place on each alternate year. The Pythian home is located in that city.

The Pythian Sisters elected officers as follows: Grand chief, Mary A. Volk, Dayton; grand senior, Miss Lillian Pollard, Worthville; grand junior, Miss Matilda Ruby, Latonia; grand manager, Mrs. Mary Freeman Gray; grand mistress of records, Mrs. Eva Farrell, Dayton; grand mistress of finance, Miss Fannie P. Bailey, Louisville; grand protector, Mrs. Minnie Bowles, Covington; grand guard, Mrs. Helen Gilman, Wilton; trustee, Mrs. Zora Bowls, Louisville; past grand chief, Mrs. Anna E. Shreck, Newport.

Mrs. Shreck, the retiring grand chief, was presented with a beautiful emblem ring.

RAINS SWELL ROLLING FORK.

Elizabethtown.—The heavy rains have again flooded Rolling Fork, submerging the corn in many places and doing considerable damage to the crops. There was a 20-foot rise about 10 days ago which covered the corn crops above the ears, entailing a loss of thousands of dollars. The farmers along the bottoms have been trebly unfortunate this year, as the first crop, which was planted early in the spring, was destroyed by high water.

C. F. HANSON DIES.

London.—C. F. Hanson died here after an illness with typhoid fever of eight weeks. Mr. Hanson is a native of Berea, Ky., having moved here from that place a year ago. The body was taken to Berea, and the burial conducted by the Masons, of which order he was a prominent member. He leaves a widow and a daughter 4 years old. Mr. Hanson was one of the best telephone men in Eastern Kentucky, having been in the business for a number of years, being manager of the London and Manchester Telephone Co.

PRISONER WEDS GIRL IN JAIL.

John Jones Marries Girl He Fought for So Fiercely as to Be Arrested.

London.—"Rusty" John Jones, who broke jail here three months ago and was finally captured in Hamilton, O., after an exciting chase of several days and returned to jail, was married in the jail office to Miss Cora Bullock by Rev. Mr. Grinstead, of the M. E. church, South. Jones was first put in jail for an assault on a rival for taking his sweetheart out driving.

Afterward he broke jail and successfully eluded the officers in several exciting escapes, during one of which a Covington negro named John C. Carroll was shot and killed at Richmond, Ky. He managed to get over into Ohio, where he had secured employment at Hamilton. Here he would have probably remained in safety but for the tell-tale love letters to and from the girl.

At the coming term of circuit court next month he must face a number of charges, among them breaking jail, malicious shooting at Sheriff Scovill, assault and resisting arrest.

LEFT ON DOORSTEP.

Paris Woman Finds Pretty Little Waif in Basket.

Paris.—When Mrs. Thomas Roberts, wife of an L. & N. engineer, living near the L. & N. passenger station, went to her front door to start for a visit to her sister, Mrs. J. J. McCarty, a few doors distant, she found on the porch a basket in which peacefully reposed a blue-eyed boy baby, apparently five months old. The child was well dressed and a bottle of milk was by its side. The Roberts will care for the waif until some disposition is made of it.

It is believed that some one passing through Paris on a through train left the child where it was found. The clothing was of the richest texture, but unmarked in any way.

THREE OF THEM,

And All Girls, Contributed By the Stork to the Miller Family.

Lexington.—Triplets, all girls, aggregating 17½ pounds, were born to Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Miller, at their farm, eight miles from Lexington, on the Winchester pike. The babies have been named Catherine Coleman, Carolyn Brown and Corinne Barkley Miller. The mother and babies are doing nicely. The father, who is well to do and the superintendent of the Sunday school at Macedonia church, is very proud of the increase in his family. The only other child is a boy, 3 years old. Prior to her marriage, Mrs. Miller was Miss Eddie Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Q. Thomas, who reside near Lexington.

Kentucky State News

Newport.—Joseph M. Betz, aged 49 years, former clerk of Campbell county, died. He had been ill for several days, having suffered an attack of heart failure. He was a well-known Elk. He assisted in organizing the Newport lodge 16 years ago. He served three terms as clerk of Campbell county. Local Democrats had boomed him for state auditor.

Hopkinsville.—Articles of incorporation were filed by the D. W. Kitchen Co., with $10,000 capital stock. The incorporators are Dixon W. Kitchen, Rubie Dick Kitchen and T. Beale Smith. The new concern takes over the Hopper & Kitchen book business and will do a wholesale and retail business in books, stationery and wall paper.

Barboursville.—Work has been started on the Tye Fork extension of the Cumberland railroad, in upper Knox county, and extensive coal fields of the Brush creek valley will be opened for development. The line will be three miles in extent, and will be finished with all speed possible, as a number of operations have already been started on coal leases.

Henderson.—Jim Hatfield, a coal miner, was shot in the back by John Puckett on the premises of Dills' saloon in this city and died a few minutes after being taken to the city hospital. It is said Puckett admitted doing the shooting and gave as his reason that it was an old grudge. Further than that he would not give any particulars of the affair.

Kentucky postmasters have been appointed as follows: Fairthorn, Hart county, James F. Perkins, vice C. S. Dobson, resigned; Rhodelia, Meade county, Georgia M. Murphy, vice E. E. Kroush, resigned.

Elizabethtown. — Ewell Nelson, a well-known young man of near Vine Grove, sustained perhaps fatal injuries while returning home from town. The horse which he was driving became frightened and ran away. Young Nelson was thrown from the buggy with great violence and his skull was fractured.

Louisville.—James S. Barrett, 75, president and organizer of the German Security bank, and one of Louisville's most prominent financiers, died at his home after a week's illness. He came to Louisville 50 years ago. He is survived by a widow, three daughters and Hite Barrett, a brother. Death was due to colitis.

Taylorsville.—Miss Ida Nicholls, this county, was adjudged insane in Judge Baird's court and was committed to the asylum at Lakeland. In former years Miss Nicholls was a teacher and taught successfully in the schools near her hom

TICKS ARE DEGENERATE RELATIVES OF SPIDERS

Horrid Little Insects Fasten Themselves on Animals and Human Beings and Suck Blood Until They Are Full.

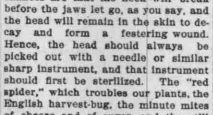

The horrid little insects known as wood ticks, which fasten themselves upon animals and human beings, and suck the blood until they become nearly four times their normal size, are minute, dangerous relatives of spiders, which have become to a greater or less degree parasitic. They constitute, with the mites, a group (Acarina) represented in great variety in all parts of the world, and everywhere troublesome to man and animals. Most of them are of pin-head size, but some become, when swollen, as large as hazel nuts. The head is small, and almost merged into the neck, but is armed with powerful biting jaws, having backward-pointed teeth, enabling the creature to hang on firmly after burying its head in the skin of any animal with a clutch soft enough to be penetrated. These mites and ticks abound in grass, herbage and on the leaves of bushes, on the under side of which some species make galls. When a large animal

Wood Ticks.

1. Rhinoceros Mite. 2. Hippopotamus Mite. 3. British Harvest Bug. 4. Beautiful Tick (European).

comes along they seize upon it, search some place in the skin, soft and moist enough for their purpose, drive in their jaws, and, having secured a firm hold, begin to suck the blood and juices until they can hold no more, and may have swelled from the size of a duck-shot to that of an oval filbert. Stimulated by this gorge, the eggs of the female develop rapidly, are voided and fall to the ground or brushed off on leaves, where they presently hatch, and soon afterwards the parent dies. If let alone, the presence of the tick does not seem to annoy wild animals greatly, although the ticks gather sometimes in solid masses, as Mr. Roosevelt mentions of some of the antelopes he encountered in British East Africa; but if an attempt is made to pull the creature

Moose Tick.

The mouth part of a tick, showing the barbed jaws and sucking apparatus.

off, after it is well anchored, the chances are that the neck will break before the jaws let go, as you say, and the head will remain in the skin to decay and form a festering wound. Hence, the head should always be picked out with a needle or similar sharp instrument, and that instrument should first be sterilized. The "red spider," which troubles our plants, the English harvest-bug, the minute mites of cheese and of sugar, and the still more minute skin parasite of the itch disease, are members of this same group. There are, however, certain abnormal members of the fly family (Diptera), which infest birds, sheep, and some other animals, and are known as "ticks," which must not be confounded with the true (acarid) ticks, since they are true insects; one of these is the means of carrying the southern cattle disease called Texas fever from one animal and herd

A Larval Tick.

Showing six long legs, which are lost in the first transformation and are replaced by the four feet of the adult.

to another. When a person finds he has ticks upon him, he should at once cover them with thick oil and grease, beneath which they will soon die and fall, or can be removed without breaking off and leaving the head. The same is true of animals.

There is hardly any animal which is free from their attacks, and the accompanying illustrations show two kinds which afflict the rhinoceros and hippopotamus, as well as some creatures nearer home. It is in search of them principally that the starlings and other birds search the hides of these and other large animals when resting, and get the name of "tick birds."

VACCINES FOR FARM ANIMALS

Treatment of Many Conditions in Horses, as Well as Cattle and Dogs, Has Given Great Relief.

(By B. F. KAUPP, Colorado Agricultural College.)

It has been only a few months since bacterial vaccine has been used on the lower animals. The treatment of many conditions in horses, as well as cattle and dogs by bacterial vaccines made from the germs that produce the disease, has given great relief.

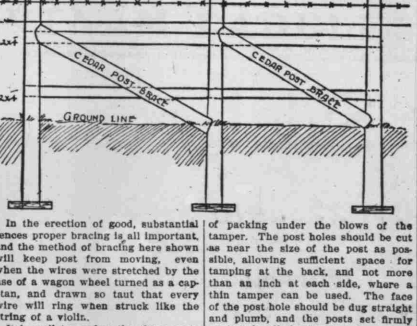

It was announced from the laboratory of pathology of the Colorado Agricultural college a few months ago that the preparation of a vaccine from the germs that cause the suppuration in fistula and poll evil had given great success in experimental trials in our hospital practice. It is also found that not only will this vaccine effect a cure in over 95 per cent of the cases of fistula and poll evil, when used by competent men, but it is useful in pus formations following nail pricks, wire cuts, or injuries of other kinds. Quittors yield to its effects.

The chemical substance contained within these germs stimulates the cells of the body (when introduced into it) to build up or form a substance that makes it impossible for the germ to live in its presence. The pus becomes less, thicker, wound finally dry, and healing goes on uninterruptedly.

Likewise, a vaccine made from the germs that cause distemper in horses effects a cure in a very few days, and, if given at the initial stage of the disease, without pus formation.

These vaccines are hypodermically given at stated intervals. The body will make its own repairs if only the right stimulus is applied.

CORNER POST WELL BRACED

In the erection of good, substantial fences proper bracing is all important, and the method of bracing here shown will keep post from moving, even when the wires were stretched by the use of a wagon wheel turned as a capstan, and drawn so taut that every wire will ring when struck like the string of a violin.

It is well to anchor the three posts shown on the diagram by spiking a 2x6 as shown in the cut, one on the face and one on the back of the post, and placing a piece of plank or stone across, and then packing the earth solidly around the post. The post hole should not be cut sloping, but as straight as possible, resembling a mortise as cut by a carpenter. If the post hole is cut sloping it is impossible to tamp the earth solidly around the posts, as the earth will spread instead of packing under the blows of the tamper. The post holes should be cut as near the size of the post as possible, allowing sufficient space for tamping at the back, and not more than an inch at each side, where a thin tamper can be used. The face of the post hole should be dug straight and plumb, and the posts set firmly against it, all the tamping being done at the back and at the sides of the post.

The seven foot posts are to be used, and the lower wire is 16 inches from the surface of the ground, the next wire nine inches above, and the other two wires nine and one-half apart, respectively. This will make the fence forty-four inches high, which is ample, for live stock as a rule will not undertake to leap over a barbed wire fence.

Four Pellets of
MUNYON'S DYSPEPSIA CURE
every hour will heal, soothe and invigorate worn out Stomachs and relieve distress

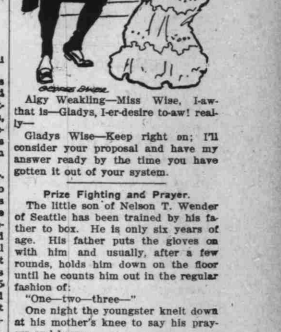

I WILL MAKE YOU PROSPEROUS
If you are honest and ambitious write me at once. No matter where you live or what your occupation, I will teach you the lead producing business by mail; appoint you Special Representative of my Company in your town; start you in a profitable business of your own; help you make big money at once.
One more opportunity for one honest, ambitious person to become independent for life. Valuable Book and full particulars FREE. Write today.
NATIONAL CO-OPERATIVE REALTY CO.
R. R. HARNEY, President, 554 Marden Building, Washington, D. C.

$20 IS WHAT WE CAN SAVE YOU ON ANY BUGGY
Top Buggies, Runabouts, Carts and Wagons, Wheels, Top Trimmings. Write for Prices
TEL. CANAL 2293 BUOB & SCHEU CO.
600 Court and Broadway Cincinnati, Ohio.

Typewriters all makes 1-4 Price
E. L. Booth & Co., 43 LaSalle St., Chicago

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

TO SAVE TIME.

Algy Weakling—Miss Wise, I-aw-that is—Gladys, I-er-desire to-aw! really—

Gladys Wise—Keep right on; I'll consider your proposal and have my answer ready by the time you have gotten it out of your system.

Prize Fighting and Prayer.

The little son of Nelson T. Wender of Seattle has been trained by his father to box. He is only six years of age. His father puts the gloves on with him and usually, after a few rounds, holds him down on the floor until he counts him out in the regular fashion of:

"One—two—three—"

One night the youngster knelt down at his mother's knee to say his prayers and began:

"Oh, Lord, one—two—three—four—five—"

Then he remembered himself and said quickly:

"'Scuse me, God. I thought I was being counted out."—Popular Magazine.

The Retort Courteous.

"Now," said the suffragette orator, sweeping the audience with her eagle eye, "I see Mr. Dobbs sitting down there in the third row—a man who has condescended to come here tonight and listen to our arguments. He has heard what I have had to say, and I think we should like to hear from him, and get a man's view of our cause. Mr. Dobbs, tell us what you think of the suffragettes."

"Oh, I c-c-couldn't, m-m-ma'am," stammered Dobbs. "I rur-really c-couldn't. Thu-there are l-l-lul-ladies pup-present."—Harper's Weekly.

If in search of a close friend select one with a close mouth.

DAME NATURE HINTS
When the Food is Not Suited.

When Nature gives her signal that something is wrong it is generally with the food. The old Dame is always faithful and one should act at once.

To put off the change is to risk that which may be irreparable. An Arizona man says:

"For years I could not safely eat any breakfast. I tried various kinds of breakfast food, but they were all soft, starchy messes which gave me distressing headaches. I drank strong coffee, too, which appeared to benefit me at the time, but added to the headaches afterwards. Toast and coffee were no better, for I found the toast very constipating.

"A friend persuaded me to quit the old coffee and the starchy breakfast foods, and use Postum and Grape-Nuts instead. I shall never regret taking his advice. I began using them three months ago.

"The change they have worked in me is wonderful. I now have no more of the distressing sensations in my stomach after eating, and I never have headaches. I have gained 12 pounds in weight and feel better in every way.

"Grape-Nuts make a delicious as well as a nutritious dish, and I find that Postum is easily digested and never produces dyspepsia symptoms."

"There's a Reason."

Get the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

$50.00 in Gold — CASH PRIZES — $50.00 in Gold

BURLEY TOBACCO FAIR

Given by The WASHINGTON COUNTY TOBACCO WAREHOUSE CO.

At Springfield, Saturday, Nov. 5, 1910

PREMIUMS

	FIRST	SECOND	THIRD
Best Bright Leaf	$10.00	$5.00	$2.50
Best Red Leaf	7.50	5.00	2.50
Best Lugs	7.50	5.00
Best Trash	2.50	2.50
	$27.50	$17.50	$5.00

Six (6) good medium hands tied together compose a sample. Send in your samples and come and lets talk tobacco. If you intend to exhibit write us at once. No entrance fee. Everybody invited to attend, no charge whatever.

Our warehouse, located on the railroad is owned by the farmer and run for the farmer. Less expensive to sell with us, and better than hogshead markets and selling at home. Bring your tobacco to the "Old House" and get highest prices. PLENTY OF STABLE AND SHED ROOM FREE.

ROBT. T. BOHANNAN,
GENERAL MANAGER AND AUCTIONEER.

SPRINGFIELD SUN

ISSUED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - ONE DOLLAR.
(In Advance.)

H. L. SMITH, Editor and Publisher.

Entered at the postoffice at Springfield Ky., for transmission through the mails as second-class matter.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One Year	$1.00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

FOR CONGRESS:
HON. BEN JOHNSON,

VALLEY HILL.

Little Miss Willie Mae Reed has returned to her home at Booker after a visit to her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Reed, of this place.

Miss Madge Lair, of Louisville, continues the guest of her sister, Mrs T. C. Tatum.

Mr. and Mrs. Hark Shehan are receiving congratulations upon the recent arrival at their home of a son. "Papa" is wearing a smile that wont rub off.

Jas Moran Jr. purchased a bunch of extra beef cattle from Croak and Fitzgerald last week to be delivered Nov. 1.

John D. Janes has rented the Walker farm at this place, from S. P. Derringer, of Springfield, and will move on January 1st.

Erastus Derringer has purchased a farm near Springfield, where he will remove shortly.

Mrs. J. L. Moran and children visited in Springfield Saturday.

Several from this place attended the stock sale of Hite Clements on last Saturday.

Byron Croake, of Springfield, was in this section Thursday on business.

Mr. Cohe Janes and family, of Louisville, will move to the farm of his father, Mr. I. L. Janes, of this place where he will farm during the ensuing year.

Jas. Moran Jr. is going to Springfield next week where he will enter into business. He hopes to see his country friends when they are in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Janes visited relatives at this place Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Kelly were guests of H. M. Goatley and wife Sunday.

The road workers have done some repairing in this section, and we must admit that it was badly needed.

Misses Naoma and Nancy Head, of St Catharines visited their father at this place Sunday.

Mesdames. Hughey Goatley, Margaret Offutt Jas. Moran and Miss Imogene Goatley, were guests of Mrs. A. B. Walker Wednesday.

TO OUR FRIENDS AND READERS.

This week marks the ending of our reportorial work for the Sun. It is a source of regret for us to give up the pleasant task of corresponding with such a valuable paper. During the past five years it has become a simple and pleasant task to sum up a letter each week and forward it to the Sun.

In fact from the renaissance of the Springfield Sun, to the present day we have followed its unprecedented growth from an unknown publication to the most up to date and interesting weekly Journal to be had. So much so, that today it seems a part of our existence.

Yet, we face the inevitable. We must cease to represent this mapless village in the capacity of reporter.

No more will the pen of "Uno" send forth the idiosyncrasies of the past, but we relinquish the pen to a more capable one, in whom we hope to have a regular correspondent.

The fact that we will not send forth a weekly letter, however, does not render it impossible for us to be heard through the columns of the Sun. Quite contrary. We hope to have and to hold, at least, a portion of the valuable space obtainable in its pages. And as a personal favor, I ask your attention to all articles and ads, that may appear from time to time from us.

Wishing the Sun unalloyed success, and its readers a year of plenty and a life of happiness. I bid you all a kindly farwell. Yours truly,

Jas. Moran Jr.

Death of George Chesheir.

Mr. Geo. Chescheir died at his home in Louisville last Thursday of a complication of disorders from which he had been a sufferer for several years. Mr. Chesheir was well known to Springfield people to whom the news of his death will come as a great shock. Until a few years ago Mr. Chesheir and family had made their home here. He was fifty-six years of age and was for twenty years engineer on the L. & N. train between here and Louisville. He is survived by his wife and four sons. James, Russell, Alfred and George.

LEACHMAN-SETTLES.

Miss Lillian Leachman and Mr. Boss Settles were married Monday morning by Rev. Simms, near Willisburg. The news of the wedding came as quite a surprise to the many friends of the young people, as they had confided their intentions to no one. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Leachman and is a beautiful young woman, while the groom is a prominent and popular young farmer.

Dr. G. T. Burton

RESIDENT DENTIST.

Teeth Extracted Without Pain.

CROWN WORK A SPECIALTY.

All Dental Work Strictly First-class. Springfield, - - Ky.
Office in Hagon Block up stairs.

Local News Notes.

Regular services in the Methodist church Sunday—morning at 11:00 o'clock. evening at 7:00 o'clock. Sunday school at 10:00 o'clock. T. J. Wade, pastor.

See our new "real taitor made" suits. The latest. Prices will astonish you. Mrs. Williams.

Mr. A. Cunningham sold his house and lot on Grundy Ave. last week to Mr. Chas. McIntire.

I want a good tobacco tenant for the year of 1911. J. K. Walls
Springfield, Ky.
R. F. D. No. 2. Box 99.

Rev. W. A. and Mrs. Wolfe have returned home from a visit to friends and relatives in Bracken county. Rev. Wolfe will hold his regular services in the Christian church next Sunday.

Our hats went like "hot cakes" last Saturday. Don't fail to get one this week. Mrs. Williams

Hamilton & Brown's Hardware Shoes are the most durable I have known for long wear and hard work. Good news of the highest praise from those who have tried them last year.
P. J. Thomas.

The Ladies of the Pleasant Grove church will have a sale of cakes, Chickens, and salads, on Wednesday. Nov. 23, at Hagan Bros. Patronage Solicited.

A protracted meeting will begin at the Maud Christian church next Monday, Oct. 24. Rev. A. D. Turrell, of Elmira, Ind., will conduct the services.

If you want a shoe to wear you from six to twelve months buy Hamilton & Brown's Hard-ware. Sold by
P. J. Thomas.

MILLENERY BARGAINS:—New hats for Friday and Saturday. Big stock satin shapes value $2.50 for $1.50 Saturday only. Mrs. Williams.

Mr. J. S. Yankey, who has been on a visit to his daughter, Mrs. W. J. Schoene, in Geneva, N. Y., arrived home last Thursday. He also visited relatives in Lexington on his return. He thinks very highly of the portions of the Empire State which he visited, and also says the people are thoroughly up to-date on business lines. He visited Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Rochester, Geneva and other points of interest in the north and enjoyed his trip very much.

Mr. Everett D. Noe, of Louisville, Ky., State agent for the Meridian Life Insurance Co., of Indianapolis, Ind., was here last week in the interest of the company. While here Mr. Noe wrote several policies and secured the services of David R. Litsey to represent the company in this county. Read Mr. Litsey's ad in this issue. He is offering you a bargain in life insurance.

The Ladies of the Presbyterian church will serve an Oyster Supper Nov. 5, from 4 to 10 p. m., at the Court House. Everybody invited.

Court Day Dinner.

The ladies of St. Rose congregation will serve court dinner next Monday. These ladies are noted for their large baskets and abundance of good dinner, and we predict that they will be successful. All donations will be thankfully received.

Farm for Sale.

Containing about 100 acres, 45 acres in grass, 8 or 10 in timber, never failing water, frame dwelling, good barn, 1 mile from railroad, convenient to school, church, etc.. For further information call on
Dr. E. L. McINTYRE,
WOODLAWN,
KENTUCKY.

"Mound City paints may cost a little more, but—! Mr. Leo Haydon."

For first-class Cleaning and Pressing Ladies and Gents Garments call on SPRINGFIELD CLEANING AND PRESSING CLUB. GEO. G. GOWDY, Prop.

We have a number of farms for sale at prices from $500 to $2,000. Good tobacco farms, stock farms, all kinds of farms. See us for city property in Bardstown.
ORVILLE ARNOLD OR DR. DEATS,
Bardstown, Ky

New Fall Goods

Are now being received by us daily, and each day we are opening for your inspection one of the most attractive lines of Dry Goods, Dress Goods, Silks, Trimmings, Novelties and Notions we have ever shown.

We are now showing an extra snappy line of Men's and Boy's Suits and Overcoats, Shoes. Hats, Shirts and Ties.

Don't fail to see our stock of Ladies' Suits and Coats before buying. We will be delighted to show you.

The RORERTSON-CLAYBROOKE CO
(INCORPORATED)

A FEW NICE FRESH

Jersey Cows For Sale!

Thurman AND Peters

Moore's Air-Tight Heater Does the Work of a Furnace!

It's by far the greatest heater on earth! Built on an entirely different principle than others. Heats by circulation instead of radiation.

One Moore's Air Tight Heater will heat your entire house—upstairs and down—and keep every floor as warm as though you had a furnace. It heats the air in the farthest room to the same temperature as the air in the same room as the stove.

Saves Over Half Your Coal Bill!

Moore's Air Tight Heater burns hard coal or the cheapest kind of slack, and can be run at less than half the cost of other heaters.

The Egg Shaped Dome and Hot Air Flue Firepot consumes all the carbon in the coal, thus overcoming the smoke and soot nuisance as well as making the fuel last longer. There are no clinkers and no cinders.

The Dust Flue takes all the dust and small ashes up the chimney, thus preventing them from collecting on the floor and furniture.

The Ashpan Apron keeps all ashes from falling on the floor when removing pan.

All parts are surface ground and fit together air tight. Nothing but asbestos wicking is used in mounting. It expands and contracts with the heat, so that the stove is perfectly air tight and under complete control at all times.

The Handsomest and Handiest Heater Ever Made!

All nickeled parts are of the very highest finish, through a process known only to the House of Moore. None of the polished parts comes in direct contact with the fire. The polish can't burn off. One polishing keeps the stove like new for a whole year.

The Air Tight Draft Control enables you to hold a fire from 24 to 48 hours. Fire never goes out over night, and is always under perfect control.

Stop in and let us show you the secret of our Open Rococo Casing and many other features we haven't room here to explain. Let us prove to you that one of these heaters will replace two or even three others and do better work than all combined.

Call at our store an let us explain the wonderful quality of this

Everlasting Firepot

An investigation will prove a great saving to you.

When in need of Tinning, Plumbing, Guttering and Repair Work give us a call.

SHULTZ & CLEAVER, Springfield, Ky.

Public Sale!

I will, at the stables of J. S. Yankey, five miles North of Springfield, Ky., on the Springfield and Willisburg pike, on Thursday, OCT. 27, 1910

AT 10 O'CLOCK, A. M.

Offer for sale the following personal property:

Mules

1 pair 4-year-old Mare Mules.
2 pair 3-year old Mare Mules.
4 pair 2 year-old Mare Mules.
1 pair 4-year-old Horse Mules.
3 pair 3 year-old Horse Mules.
3 pair 2-year-old Horse Mules.
1 6-year-old Mare Mule.
1 2-year old Horse Mule.
3 yearling mare mules
1 weanling Horse Mule.
1 4-year-old Horse Mule.
1 6-year-old Horse Mule.
1 6-year-old Jack, a good one.

Horses

1 Brood Mare by Red Bird, bred to Noble Denmark.
2 Weanling Colts, horse and mare.
1 yearling Red Bird Horse.
1 coming 3-year-old Red Bird Mare
1 coming 2-year-old Saddle Gelding
1 Weanling Colt, by Moko,
6 extra Milk Cows and Colves.
1 yearling Heifer.
80 head of Ewes, good ones.
3 Bucks.

Lunch Served at 1 p. m.

L. M. GREGORY.

T. D. ENGLISH, Auctioneer.

We are Showing the Largest Stock of Men's, Boy's and Children's Suits we have ever shown

In fact we are Overstocked and must cut the stock down. We make the following low prices:

Hart, Schaffner & Marx Suits worth			$35 for	$25.00
"	"	"	30 for	22.50
"	"	"	25 for	20.00
"	"	"	22.50 for	18.50
"Wellworth" Suits worth			$20 for	15.00
"	"	"	17.50 for	12.50
"	"	"	15.00 for	11.00
"	"	"	12.50 for	9.50

Cut Prices on Carpets, Rugs, Wall Paper, Lace Curtains

Complete Stock of

Women's Empress Coat Suits

Novelty and French Serge	$20.00 to $35
Broad Cloth	12.50 to 20
Plain Serges	10.00 to 15
Fancy Mixtures	7.50 to 10

Women's Coats and Furs

SHOES.

Florsheim Shoes for Men	$4.50 to $6.00
Douglas Shoes for Men	$2.50 to $4.00
Beacon Shoes for Men	$3.00 to $4.00
Krippendorf Shoes for Women	$2.50 to $5.00
Smith-Sterling Shoes for Women	$2.00 to $3.50

Dress Goods, Silks, Neckwear, Belt Pins, Sweater Coats, Belts, Underwear, Silk Skirts

Specials for Saturday & Monday

Calicoes 5c; Apron Ginghams 7c; Hoosier Cotton 6c
Hope Cotton 7½c; 9-4 Sheeting 20c; 36 in. Percales 10c

WE SOLICIT YOUR PATRONAGE

CUNNINGHAM & DUNCAN

MACKVILLE.

J. R. Cull, our popular merchant, has sold his entire stock of goods to Mr. Gus Johnson, of near Willisburg. We regret to lose him from our community for we think him a fine man and have always found him courteous and obliging.

The school at this place is progressing nicely under the management of Mr. Florence and Mrs. Ada Arnold and Ora Bottom, assistants.

George Isham has sold his farm to Chas. Shewmaker, of Simmstown; consideration not known.

Gabe Keightley has sold his farm to Will and Chas. Bottom for $100 per acre.

Mrs. Lett Hatchett and Mrs. Derwood Shewmaker have returned from several days visit to the latter's parents, near Lebanon.

Quite a number from this place attended the funeral of Mrs. John Best last Friday, at Bethlehem, whose accidental death, while attending the obsequies of her brother-in-law has already been published in the Sun.

Will Harmon and family spent last Saturday and Sunday with relatives in Marion county.

It is reported that Mr. Thompson, our popular telephone operator, has sold his farm to Mr. Bosley; price unknown.

Mrs. China Tumey has gone to Indiana for a visit of several weeks to her son, Charles Tumey, and other relatives at that place.

Prof. Florence has moved into the Methodist parsonage and will reside with the Rev. J. A. Sawyer.

Mrs. Bettie Peters has taken rooms at John Harmon's, vacated by Mrs. Nan Riley.

Mrs. Chas. Bottom is rapidly improving, after several months' severe illness.

That Mysterious Shower.

The Danville Advocate says the mysterious shower which continued for two weeks on the farm of F. M. Bower, near Parksville, last fall, reappeared two days ago and has been in progress during the elapsed time. The phenomena is attracting wide attention and many people are mystified. The space covered by the shower is about one hundred feet square. A great many people are flocking to the scene to witness the remarkable sight. Last year a dog on the Bower farm continued to chase around the circle covered by the rain, but this time he paid no attention to the mystery.

A visitation of 17-year locusts swooped down on Danville, Ky., October 12.

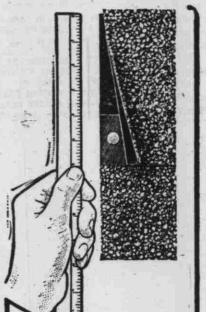

It is said that the new tariff law has had the effect of reducing the size of cigarette packages. Take another fall out of the tariff and obliterate them altogether.

A tonic that invigorates both old and young. For weak, nervous, men and women. Every bottle guaranteed. Get it TO-DAY.

NERVUTINE
DR. HOAG'S
Sold by

HAYDON & ROBERTSON

SECURITY
WIDE-WELD ASPHALT
ROOFING

THIS six-inch, asphalt-cement-welded joint gives you a continuous, one-piece roof without a single nail-hole through it.

Made of natural mineral asphalt—the best weather-proofing known.

No Coal-Tar

SOLD BY

George J. Begemann
—MANUFACTURER OF—
Hand-Made Harness
SPRINGFIELD, KY.

Fuhrman & Co.

Bloomfield, Ky.

Desire to call your attention to their line of

Ladies' Ready-to-Wear Suits

We can fit the smallest Lady as well as very near the largest one. This is a new department with us this season and we are very proud of its success. Our prices are very reasonable and our selection excellent. A look will convince you our claims are not exagerated.

Every other line of goods in our house is as good as money can buy. Not having any partners or rent to pay we take an exceedingly modest profit on our goods.

It will pay you to trade with

FUHRMAN & CO.,

W. V. STALLARD, D. D. S.
SPRINGFIELD, KY. PHONE 72

TEETH EXTRACTED WITHOUT Pain or Danger

All Work Done in this office is first-class in every respect and just as advertised. (GUARANTEED)

Over McElroy & Shader's Grocery

Personal Notes.

Visitors In and Out of Town.—A Round Up of the Week's Personal News.

—Misses Fannie K. and Della Smith are spending the week in Louisville.

—Mrs. Mary Philips and Miss Nan Dehoney, of Lebanon, were in town Tuesday.

—J. C. McElroy and Charles Greene were in Bardstown Monday on business.

—Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Mayes have returned home after a visit to their son Robert in Oklahoma City, Okla.

—P. D. Marks, of Cane Springs, is the guest of relatives here.

—Mrs. Heff Rubel, of Lebanon, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Sallie Simms the first of the week.

—Miss Nellie Simms, of St. Catherines spent Saturday with her parents here.

—Louis Kelly, of Louisville, spent Saturday and Sunday with his mother here.

—Emette Wiggington, of Fairfield, was the guest of Dr. Hyatt Saturday and Sunday.

—J. M. Stergeon and L. O. McCarty were in Lebanon Thursday.

—Mrs. Katie Williams was in Louisville last week on business.

—W. M. Hagan was in Bardstown Friday.

—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Baker, of Cleaveland, Ohio, are visiting Mr. Baker's parents here.

—Alex Blanford has returned to his home in Louisville, after spending several days with his mother here.

—Mr. Edwards, of Horse Cave, is the guest of relatives here.

—Mrs. Joe Claybrooke and little daughter have returned from a visit to relatives at Bardstown.

—Mrs. A. J. Miller is visiting her parents in Hodgenville.

—H. M. Moss, C. W. Camden, N. G. Marks and L. A. Burns attended the tobacco sales at Lexington and made a tour through the Blue Grass in Mr. Camded's Auto.

—Harry Shultz has returned home after spending a few days in Louisville.

—Mrs. Fred Manget, of Louisville, is the guest of her parents here.

—Downing Robertson is visiting his parents here.

—Misses Jennie Greene, Fannie Smith, Mabel Thompson and Eddie Shader, Mrsses. James Carrico, Rob Russell, Wathen Simms, Sam Clements, Louis Cain, Sam Anderson and Will Robertson, attended the K of C Banquet Thursday night in Lebanon.

—Mrs. B. B. Buster, of Harrodsburg is the guest of her parents here.

—Will Robertson spent the first of the week in Louisville.

—Arthur McGill is the guest of relatives in Louisville.

—Mrs. C. H. P. McElroy, of Kansas, City, left on Tuesday to attend the marriage of her neice, Miss Rodes, at Lexington after spending a few days here with friends.

—Misses Hallie Huston and Nellie Andrewes, of Maud were in town Wednesday.

—J. M. Sturgeon is visiting in Chicago Ills.

—Miss Gertrude Shader has returned home after a visit to her sister, Mrs. George Greene in Louisville.

—Sylvester Russell Sr. and son, Sylvester, of Lebanon, were in town Wednesday on business.

An Appreciated Donation.

Last Monday morning the ladies of the Baptist church formed a surprise party at the home of Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Williams and filled their larder with enough preserved fruit, etc., to provide the young couple with delicacies for a year or so. This was certainly an appreciated gift and one that will always keep in the minds of Rev. and Mrs. Williams the kindness of these good ladies of the congregation.

Your cough annoys you. Keep on hacking and tearing the delicate membranes of your throat if you want to be annoyed. But if you want relief, want to be cured, take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Sold by all druggists.

Fresh Oysters!

Fresh Celery,
Fresh Fruits,
Candies, Nuts,
Light Bread,
Hot Rolls,
Fancy Cakes

TELEPHONE 69

And your order will be promptly attended to and delivered.

KATIE HERTLEIN & BRO.

HARDIN'S CHAPEL.

News is scarce this week, excepting Mr. H. S. Litsey is having a tobacco barn erected; G. W. Fenwick is having a coat of paint put on his new tobacco barn and George Cocanougher is making molasses.

Mrs. Josie Flynn has returned to her home in Lebanon, after a few days stay with relatives at this place.

Mrs. G. W. Fenwick and daughter, Leila, were in Mackville Tuesday.

Mrs. Margaret Brewer and son, Frank, spent one day last week with Mrs. Ruhia Cocanougher.

Miss Margaret Brady spent Tuesday night with Miss Lillie Powell.

Mrs. G. W Fenwick spent Friday afternoon with Mrs. George Cocanougher.

Miss Florence Haydon was in Mackville Monday.

Misses Ada and Leila Fenwick spent Friday afternoon with Miss Jennie Litsey.

They have commenced working the road in Slab Hollow. We hope they will put it in fine fix.

Mr. and Mrs Will Bowles spent Sunday with Mrs Nellie Logsdon.

Miss Margaret Logsdon and brother, Bernard, spent Saturday and Sunday with Ben Haydon and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Dee Sweeney spent Sunday with Mrs. Nelhe Logsdon.

Mr. and Mrs Arthur Whiteman spent Sunday with their parents at this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Jeffries spent Sunday with Mrs. Nellie Logsdon.

Miss Susie Fenwick spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents at this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood Gillespie and son, Paul, spent Sunday with friends here.

J. R. Young has purchased the farm of John Bailey for $4,200.

Mrs. Albert Rudd and daughter, Miss Alice, and Miss Mattie Tobin spent Sunday with Mrs. Ben Haydon.

Mrs. Austin Clark and children spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. John Barker.

Mrs. Sallie Simms and son, Will, and little niece, Mary Orkies, spent Sunday with W. M. Barker

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Coffee spent Sunday with John Paddock and family.

Mrs. Emma Young and Ina Murphy spent from Tuesday until Thursday with Mrs. Sarah Lanham.

Public Sale!

Having sold my farm in this county, I will, on

21st Oct., '10

sell publicly to the highest bidder all of my JACKS and JENNETS consisting of.

1 4-year-old Jack; 1 3-year-old Jack, 2 2-year-old Jacks, and one Jack colt, all good colors and well bred, and good workers; 15 Jennets, most of them bought at B. B. King's at Moreland last year. These Jennets are all bred to the Tucker Jack.

One trotting Stallion, five years-old, standard and registered; about 200 shocks of corn; a lot of sorghum and cow peas; a storm buggy; one runabout good as new; a lot of Farming Implements; McCormick Binder; a lot of household goods; some Jersey cows and heifers; pair of work mules, 4-years-old, 16 hands high; 75 good stock ewes and a few hogs.

This Sale is Absolute.
Your Price is Mine.

H. M. HERNDON,

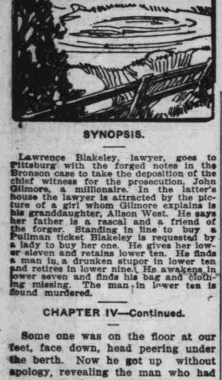

Three miles South of Danville, 2 miles East of Junction City. Shelby City Post office.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has become famous for its cures of coughs, colds, croup and influenza. Try it when in need. It contains no harmful substance and always gives prompt relief. Sold by all druggists.

Bowling Alley For Sale or Rent!

As our other business requires all our attention we have decided to sell or rent our bowling alleys. The alleys are in first-class condition and is a money-making business.

Leachman & Campbell's Furniture Store

SYNOPSIS.

Lawrence Blakeley, lawyer, goes to Pittsburg with the forged notes in the Bronson case to take the deposition of the chief witness for the prosecution, John Gilmore, a millionaire. In the latter's house the lawyer is attracted by the picture of a girl whom Gilmore explains is his granddaughter, Alison West. He says her father is a rascal and a friend of the forger. Standing in line to buy a Pullman ticket Blakeley is requested by a lady to buy her one. He gives her lower eleven and retains lower ten. He finds a man in a drunken stupor in lower ten and retires in lower nine. He awakens in lower seven and finds his bag and clothing missing. The man in lower ten is found murdered.

CHAPTER IV—Continued.

Some one was on the floor at our feet, face down, head peering under the berth. Now he got up without apology, revealing the man who had summoned the conductor. He was dusty, alert, cheerful, and he dragged up with him the dead man's suit-case. The sight of it brought back to me at once my own predicament.

"I don't know whether there's any connection or not, conductor," I said, "but I am a victim, too, in less degree; I've been robbed of everything I possess, except a red and yellow bathrobe. I happened to be wearing the bathrobe, which was probably the reason the thief overlooked it."

There was a fresh murmur in the crowd. Somebody laughed nervously. The conductor was irritated.

"I can't bother with that now," he snarled. "The railroad company is responsible for transportation, not for clothes, jewelry and morals. If people want to be stabbed and robbed in the company's cars, it's their affair. Why didn't you sleep in your clothes? I do."

I took an angry step forward. Then somebody touched my arm, and I unclenched my fist. I could understand the conductor's position, and beside, in the law, I had been guilty myself of contributory negligence.

"I'm not trying to make you responsible," I protested, as amiably as I could, "and I believe the clothes the thief left are as good as my own. They are certainly newer. But my valise contained valuable papers, and it is to your interest as well as mine to find the man who stole it."

"Why, of course," the doctor said shrewdly. "Find the man who skipped out with this gentleman's clothes, and you've probably got the murderer."

"I went to bed in lower nine," I said, my mind full again of my lost papers, "and I wakened in number seven. I was up in the night prowling around, as I was unable to sleep, and I must have gone back to the wrong berth. Anyhow, until the porter wakened me this morning I knew nothing of my mistake. In the interval the thief—murderer, too, perhaps—must have come back, discovered my error, and taken advantage of it to further his escape."

The inquisitive man looked at me from between narrowed eyelids, ferret-like.

"Did anyone on the train suspect you of having valuable papers?" he inquired. The crowd was listening intently.

"No one," I answered promptly and positively.

The doctor was investigating the murdered man's effects. The pockets of his trousers contained the usual miscellany of keys and small change, while in his right pocket was found a small pearl-handled revolver of the type women usually keep around. A gold watch with a Masonic charm had slid down between the mattress and the window, while a showy diamond stud was still fastened in the bosom of his shirt. Taken as a whole, the personal belongings were those of a man of some means, but without any particular degree of breeding. The doctor heaped them together.

"Either robbery was not the motive," he reflected, "or the thief overlooked these things in his hurry."

The latter hypothesis seemed the more tenable, when, after a thorough search, we found no pocketbook and less than a dollar in small change.

The suit-case gave no clew. It contained one empty leather-covered flask and a pint bottle, also empty, a change of linen and some collars with the laundry mark, S. H. In the leather tag on the handle was a card with the name Simon Harrington, Pittsburg.

The conductor sat down on my unmade berth, across, and made an entry of the name and address. Then, on an old envelope, he wrote a few words and gave it to the porter, who disappeared.

"I guess that's all I can do," he said. "I've had enough trouble this trip to last for a year. They don't need a conductor on these trains any more; what they ought to have is a sheriff and a posse."

The porter from the next car came in and whispered to him. The conductor rose unhappily.

"Next car's caught the disease," he grumbled. "Doctor, a woman back there has got mumps or bubonic plague, or something. Will you come back?"

The strange porter stood aside.

The MAN in LOWER TEN

by MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

AUTHOR OF THE CIRCULAR STAIRCASE

ILLUSTRATIONS by M. G. KETTNER

COPYRIGHT BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

"Did Anyone Suspect You of Having Valuable Papers?"

"Lady about the middle of the car," he said, "in black, sir, with queer-looking hair—sort of copper color, I think, sir."

CHAPTER V.

The Woman in the Next Car.

With the departure of the conductor and the doctor, the group around lower ten broke up, to reform in smaller knots through the car. The porter remained on guard. With something of relief I sank into a seat. I wanted to think, to try to remember the details of the previous night. But my inquisitive acquaintance had other intentions. He came up and sat down beside me. Like the conductor, he had taken notes of the dead man's belongings, his name, address, clothing and the general circumstances of the crime. Now with his little notebook open before him, he prepared to enjoy the minor sensation of the robbery.

"And now for the second victim," he began cheerfully. "What is your name and address, please?"

I eyed him with suspicion.

"I have lost everything but my name and address," I parried. "What do you want them for? Publication?"

"Oh, no; dear, no!" he said, shocked at my misapprehension. "Merely for my own enlightenment. I like to gather data of this kind and draw my own conclusions. Most interesting and engrossing. Once or twice I have forestalled the results of police investigation—but entirely for my own amusement."

I nodded tolerantly. Most of us have hobbies; I knew a man once who carried his handkerchief up his sleeve and had a mania for old colored prints cut out of Godey's Lady Book.

"I use that inductive method originated by Poe and followed since with such success by Conan Doyle. Have you ever read Gaboriau? Ah, you have missed a treat, indeed. And now, to get down to business, what is the name of our escaped thief and probable murderer?"

"How on earth do I know?" I demanded impatiently. "He didn't write it in blood anywhere, did he?"

The little man looked hurt and disappointed.

"Do you mean to say," he asked, "that the pockets of those clothes are entirely empty?"

The pockets! In the excitement I had forgotten entirely the sealskin grip which the porter now sat at my feet, and I had not investigated the pockets at all. With the inquisitive man's pencil taking note of everything that I found, I emptied them on the opposite seat.

Upper left-hand waist-coat, two lead pencils and a fountain pen; lower right waist-coat, matchbox and a small stamp book; right-hand pocket coat, pair of gray suede gloves, new, size seven and a half; left-hand pocket, gun-metal cigarette case studded with pearls, half-full of Egyptian cigarettes. The trousers pockets contained a gold penknife, a small amount of money in bills and change, and a handkerchief with the initial "S" on it.

Further search through the coat disclosed a card-case with cards bearing the name Henry Pinckney Sullivan, and a leather flask with gold mountings, filled with what seemed to be very fair whisky, and monogrammed H. P. S.

"His name evidently is Henry Pinckney Sullivan," said the cheerful follower of Poe, as he wrote it down. "Address as yet unknown. Blonde, probably. Have you noticed that it is almost always the blonde men who affect a very light gray, with a touch of red in the scarf? Fact, I assure you. I kept a record once of the summer attire of men, and 90 per cent. followed my rule. Dark men like you affect navy blue, or brown.

In spite of myself I was amused at the man's shrewdness.

"Yes; the suit he took was dark—blue," I said.

He rubbed his hands and smiled at me delightedly.

"Then you wore black shoes, not tan," he said, with a glance at the aggressive yellow ones I wore.

"Right again," I acknowledged. "Black low shoes and black embroidered hose. If you keep on you'll have a motive for the crime, and the murderer's present place of hiding. And if you come back to the smoker with me, I'll give you an opportunity to judge if he knew good whisky from bad."

I put the articles from the pockets back again and got up. "I wonder if there is a diner on?" I said. "I need something sustaining after all this."

I was conscious then of some one at my elbow. I turned to see the young woman whose face was so vaguely familiar. In the very act of speaking she drew back suddenly and colored.

"Oh—I beg your pardon," she said hurriedly. "I—thought you were—some one else." She was looking in a puzzled fashion at my coat. I felt all the cringing guilt of a man who has accidentally picked up the wrong umbrella; my borrowed caller sat right on my neck.

"I'm sorry," I said idiotically. "I'm sorry, but—I'm not." I have learned since that she has bright brown hair, with a loose wave in it that drops over her ears, and dark blue eyes with black lashes and—but what does it matter? One enjoys a picture as a whole; not as the sum of its parts.

She saw the flask then, and her errand came back to her. "One of the ladies at the end of the car has fainted," she explained. "I thought perhaps a stimulant—"

I picked up the flask at once and followed my guide down the aisle. Two or three women were working over the woman who had fainted. They had opened her collar and taken out her hair pins, whatever good that might do. The stout woman was vigorously rubbing her wrists, with the idea, no doubt, of working up her pulse! The unconscious woman was the one for whom I had secured lower 11 at the station.

I poured a little liquor in a bungling masculine fashion between her lips as she leaned back, with closed eyes. She chocked, coughed and rallied somewhat.

"Poor thing," said the stout lady. "As she lies back that way I almost think it was my mother; she used to faint so much."

"It would make anybody faint," chimed in another. "Murder and robbery in one night and on one car. I'm thankful I always wear my rings in a bag around my neck—even if they do get under me and keep me awake."

The girl in blue was looking at us with wide, startled eyes. I saw her pale a little, saw the quick, apprehensive glance which she threw at her traveling companion, the small woman

I had noticed before. There was an exchange—almost a clash—of glances. The small woman frowned. That was all. I turned my attention again to my patient.

She had revived somewhat, and now she asked to have the window opened. The train had stopped again and the car was oppressively hot. People around were looking at their watches and grumbling over the delay. The doctor bustled in with a remark about its being his busy day. The amateur detective and the porter together mounted guard over lower ten. Outside the heat rose in shimmering waves from the tracks; the very wood of the car was hot to touch. A Camberwell Beauty darted through the open door and made its way, in erratic plunges, great wings waving, down the sunny aisle. All around lay the peace of harvested fields, the quiet of the country.

CHAPTER VI.

The Girl in Blue.

I was growing more and more irritable. The thought of what the loss of the notes meant was fast crowding the murder to the back of my mind. The forced inaction was intolerable. The porter had reported no bag answering the description of mine on the train, but I was disposed to make my own investigation. I made a tour of the cars, scrutinizing every variety of hand luggage, ranging from luxurious English bags with gold mountings to the wicker nondescript of the day coach at the rear. I was not alone in my quest, for the girl in blue was just ahead of me. Car by car she preceded me through the train, unconscious that I was behind her, looking at each passenger as she passed. I fancied the proceeding was distasteful, but that she had determined on a course and was carrying it through. We reached the end of the train almost together—empty-handed, both of us.

The girl went out to the platform. When she saw me she moved aside, and I stepped out beside her. Behind us the track curved sharply; the early sunshine threw the train, in long black shadow, over the hot earth. Forward somewhere they were hammering. The girl said nothing, but her profile was strained and anxious.

"I—if you have lost anything," I began, "I wish you would let me try to help. Not that my own success is anything to boast of."

She hardly glanced at me. It was not flattering.

"I have not been robbed, if that is what you mean," she replied quietly. "I am—perplexed. That is all."

There was nothing to say to that. I lifted my hat—the other fellow's hat—and turned to go back to my car. Two or three members of the train crew, including the conductor, were standing in the shadow talking. And at that moment, from a farmhouse near came the swift clang of the breakfast bell, calling in the hands from barn and pasture. I turned back to the girl.

"We may be here for an hour," I said, "and there is no buffet car on. If I remember my youth, that bell means ham and eggs and country butter and coffee. If you care to run the risk—"

"I am not hungry," she said, "but perhaps a cup of coffee—dear me, I believe I am hungry," she finished. "Only—" She glanced back of her.

"I can bring your companion," I suggested, without enthusiasm. But the young woman shook her head.

"She is not hungry," she objected, "and she is very—well, I know she wouldn't come. Do you suppose we could make it if we run?"

"I haven't any idea," I said cheerfully. "Any old train would be better than this one, if it does leave us behind."

"Yes. Any train would be better than this one," she repeated gravely. I found myself watching her changing expression. I had spoken two dozen words to her and already I felt that I knew the lights and shades in her voice—I, who had always known how a woman rods to bonds, and who never could have told the color of her hair.

I stepped down on the ties and turned to assist her, and together we walked back to where the conductor and the porter from our car were in close conversation. Instinctively my hand went to my cigarette pocket and came out empty. She saw the gesture.

"If you want to smoke, you may," she said. "I have a big cousin who smokes all the time. He says I am 'nippered.'"

I drew out the gun-metal cigarette case and opened it. But this most commonplace action had an extraordinary result. The girl beside me stopped dead still and stood staring at it with fascinated eyes.

"Is—where did you get that?" she demanded, with a catch in her voice; her gaze still fixed on the cigarette case.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

"Uneasy lies the head that wears an ice bag!"

THE HOBBLE SKIRT'S ORIGIN

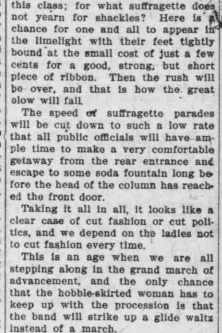

This Freak Fashion May Have Been Started by Horace Greeley's Old Umbrella.

New York.—There is every reason to believe that the hobble skirt craze is not an importation from France, but was started in this country many years ago, in an indirect way, by Horace Greeley.

It all began with Mr. Greeley's famous old green umbrella, for anyone can see by the accompanying illustration what a striking similarity there is between it and the fashionable hobble skirted woman of today.

Here in America there is very little said against the fad, except that the men of New York have risen as a body, demanding that no hobble skirts be worn in the vicinity of the Flatiron building.

How is the hobble skirt going to affect the great question of the hour—woman suffrage? The movement means a complete "tie-up" for suffragettes. There is no doubt that the fad will meet with strong approval in this class; for what suffragette does not yearn for shackles? Here is a chance for one and all to appear in the limelight with their feet tightly bound at the small cost of just a few cents for a good, strong, but short piece of ribbon. Then the rush will be over, and that is how the great blow will fall.

How it Happened.

The speed of suffragette parades will be cut down to such a low rate that all public officials will have ample time to make a very comfortable getaway from the rear entrance and escape to some soda fountain long before the head of the column has reached the front door.

Taking it all in all, it looks like a clear case of cut fashion or cut politics, and we depend on the ladies not to cut fashion every time.

This is an age when we are all stepping along in the grand march of advancement, and the only chance that the hobble-skirted woman has to keep up with the procession is that the band will strike up a glide waltz instead of a march.

WINS AT THE BEAUTY SHOW

Miss Kitty Darling of Plymouth, England, Defeats Former Queen in Prize Competition.

Folkestone, Eng.—Here is the international beauty queen of Europe. She has been voted that honor at the international beauty competition at Folkstone. Moreover, she defeated Miss Mamie Whittaker of London, the beauty queen of England, in the prize competition.

The international beauty queen is Miss Kitty Darling of Devonshire, England, and she is just 17. She had never before presented her claims for the distinction conferred upon her, but, with her winsome, roguish Devon beauty, she quickly secured an overwhelming vote.

Miss Whittaker, the former beauty queen of England, who, of course, also loses that title since Miss Darling's victory, was given second honors. Third honors in the international contest went to Mlle. Simone de Beryl of Paris.

Baby Is Drowned in a Bucket.

Sapulpa, Okla.—Mrs. T. B. Scobey, wife of a brakeman on the Frisco, awoke in the morning to find that her year old baby had fallen from the bed head first into a bucket of water and drowned. The woman is threatened with the loss of her mind.

HER PHYSICIAN APPROVES

Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sabattus, Maine.—"You told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills before child-birth, and we are all surprised to see how much good it did. My physician said 'Without doubt it was the Compound that helped you.' I thank you for your kindness in advising me and give you full permission to use my name in your testimonials."—Mrs. H. W. MITCHELL, R.D. 1, Sabattus, Me.

Another Woman Helped.

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health and strength, and proved worth mountains of gold to me. For the sake of other suffering women I am willing you should publish my letter."—Mrs. CHARLES BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex, should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A Kansas woman wants a divorce because her husband throws bricks at her. No man has a right to throw anything at his wife but bouquets and hot air.

But the pure food laws do not make any provisions for love that is adulterated with filthy lucre.

WASTED A FORTUNE ON SKIN TROUBLE

"I began to have an itching over my whole body about seven years ago and this settled in my limbs, from the knee to the toes. I went to see a great many physicians, a matter which cost me a fortune, and after I noticed that I did not get any relief that way, I went for three years to the hospital. But they were unable to help me there, I used all the medicines that I could see but became worse and worse. I had an inflammation which made me almost crazy with pain, when I showed my foot to my friends they would get really frightened. I did not know what to do. I was so sick and had become so nervous that I positively lost all hope.

"I had seen the advertisement of the Cuticura Remedies a great many times, but could not make up my mind to buy them, for I had already used so many medicines. Finally I did decide to use the Cuticura Remedies and I tell you that I was never so pleased as when I noticed that, after having used two sets of Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Pills, the entire inflammation had gone. I was completely cured. I should be only too glad if people with similar disease would come to me and find out the truth. I would only recommend them to use Cuticura. Mrs. Bertha Sachs, 1621 Second Ave., New York, N. Y., Aug. 20, 1909."

"Mrs. Bertha Sachs is my sister-in-law and I know well how she suffered and was cured by Cuticura Remedies after many other treatments failed. Morris Sachs, 321 E. 88th St., New York, N. Y., Secretary of Deutsch-Ostrower Unt.-Verein, Kempner Hebrew Benevolent Society, etc."

Uncalled For.

"I hear the old bridge outside of Plunkville has collapsed."

"Yes, and the town council can't understand it. We had just given that bridge a coat of paint. Why, it looked like new."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Woman's Hands.

It isn't work that ruins the hands—it is the soap, the common, dangerous yellow rosin soap. It will eat into and rot cloth, so what won't it do to that delicate skin of a woman's hands? "Easy Task Soap" is pure and antiseptic; it has no nasty, disagreeable odor; it does the cleaning for you and you don't have to wear out your skin and your muscles with rubbing. As it costs no more than poor soaps, why should you ruin your hands? Your grocer has it.

TRY MURINE EYE REMEDY

For Red, Weak, Weary, Watery Eyes and Granulated Eyelids. Murine Doesn't Smart—Soothes Eye Pain. Druggists Sell Murine Eye Remedy, Liquid, 25c, 50c, $1.00. Murine Eye Salve in Aseptic Tubes, 25c, $1.00. Eye Books and Eye Advice Free by Mail. Murine Eye Remedy Co., Chicago.

Consulting the Playwright.

"My star can wiggle his ears and whistle through his teeth."

"Um."

"Now, can you build me a first-class comedy around that?"

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

The false prophet has both eyes on the profits.

WHY NEW ORLEANS

CITY IS LOGICAL POINT FOR WORLD'S PANAMA EXPOSITION.

Its Geographical Position and Many Other Considerations Mark It as Most Suitable Spot for Dedication of Great Work.

Public sentiment has decided that the completion of the Panama Canal in 1915 shall be celebrated with a great International Exposition in which all the nations of the world may participate; and the question of where this Exposition is to be held will be settled by Congress at its approaching session.

New Orleans and San Francisco are contesting for the honor of holding this Exposition, and both cities have guaranteed immense sums of money as an evidence of their ability to finance so great an enterprise.

An Exposition worthy of the term "World's Fair," such as New Orleans proposes to build, will be a great educational movement. Its success as such, however, will depend entirely upon the percentage of our population who can secure its educational advantages, this in turn, depends upon its location, as the time in traveling to and from the Exposition, and the cost in railroad and Pullman fares, are the most important factors.

Considering these matters, New Orleans' claims to being the "Logical Point" for this Panama Exposition, seem to be fully substantiated by the following facts:—

New Orleans is 500 miles from the center of population in the United States. San Francisco is 2,500 miles distant therefrom.

Within a radius of 500 miles from New Orleans there are 17,500,000 people. Within the same radius from San Francisco there are only 2,000,000.

Within a radius of 1,000 miles from New Orleans, there are 65,000,000. Within the same radius from San Francisco there are only 6,000,000.

At an average of 900 miles from New Orleans, there are 70 of our principal cities with a combined population of 20,000,000. Averaging 900 miles from San Francisco there are only 8 large cities, with a combined population of just 1,000,000. The average distance of all these cities to New Orleans is 792 miles,—to San Francisco 2,407 miles.

Over 75 per cent. of the people of the United States could go to an Exposition there at an average expense for railroad fare of $12.50, as against an average of $37.50 to the Pacific Coast; and for several millions of our people, the Pullman fare and Dining Car expenses alone, for a trip to San Francisco, would amount to more than all their transportation expenses for a trip to New Orleans.

This is an important public question to be settled by Congress at the session which convenes in December.

Many of our readers will wish to visit this World's Panama Exposition, and if held in New Orleans a great many more could spare the time and money for the trip than could go to San Francisco. Therefore, we urge our readers to write to the two senators from this State and the congressman from this district, requesting them to support New Orleans in the contest.

Not Responsible.

Nurse—What's that dirty mark on your leg, Master Frank?

Frank—Harold kicked me.

Nurse—Well, go at once and wash it off.

Frank—Why? It wasn't me what did it!—Punch.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Cheerfulness should be the gift of the sunlight, the air should suffice for inspiration, and radiance of wisdom is the finely waste of the pine woods, making us dance and run about happily like children.—Emerson.

Physicians Everywhere Use Resinol With Very Great and Unvarying Success.

During the last six months I have prescribed Resinol in numerous cases of acute and chronic skin diseases and chronic ulcerations with very great and unvarying success. It is a reliable preparation, and its action is prompt and pleasing.

A. F. Volkman, Baltimore, Md.

The average married man kicks because his wife worries because he doesn't get home right on time, but suppose she didn't care whether he ever came or not?

DISTEMPER

In all its forms among all ages of horses, as well as dogs, cured and others in same stable prevented from having the disease with SPOHN'S DISTEMPER CURE. Every bottle guaranteed. Over 600,000 bottles sold last year. $.50 and $1.00. Any good druggist, or send to manufacturers. Agents wanted. Spohn Medical Co., Spec Contagious Diseases, Goshen, Ind.

An Ohio man aged 70 married a girl aged 20, and deeded her 500 acres of land. Then she had plenty of grounds for divorce.

Instant Relief for All Eyes, that are irritated from dust, heat, sun or wind, PETTIT'S EYE SALVE, 25c. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

Some men try to save money by not paying their debts.

Was He a Coward?

By CARL JENKINS

Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press

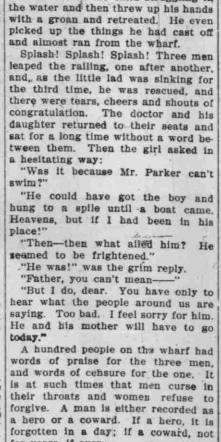

Dr. Hargraves, retired and said to be wealthy, has more or less business to do with a certain safe deposit company. He thus came to know young Austen Parker. There came to be a social as well as a business side, and after a time Mr. Parker was a caller at the house.

Dr. Hargraves was a widower and in poor health. The light of his eye and the joy of his heart was his daughter May. A sister oversaw the house, but the doctor used to say that his daughter oversaw him. The friendship between them was almost selfish. Miss May's handsome face attracted many, but she received them all as callers until Mr. Parker came. In his case, after a bit, the father thought he detected more than usual interest, and he was secretly pleased. He knew that his ailment must carry him off at the end of a few years, and he hoped the daughter's future would be settled before the dark day came.

The doctor and his daughter were at the Harbor hotel when Mr. Parker and his mother arrived. It was simply chance that brought them together there, and all were pleased over it.

A week had passed very pleasantly when one day the doctor, Miss May and Mr. Austen were on the long wharf below the hotel to sit in the band house and enjoy the cool breeze. There were women and children about, and here and there a man was lazily fishing. Of a sudden a women screamed out. Her boy of five had climbed the railing and fallen into the water. There were shouts and screams from others, and a hubub all along the wharf.

The accident occurred within thirty feet of the band stand. Mr. Parker reached the railing in four or five bounds, tore off his coat and kicked off his shoes, and was on the point of leaping the rail into the water when he suddenly halted and stepped back.

"Oh, Go-Go-Go!" Called Miss May.

"You can get him—you can get him!" urged the doctor as he came up. "There's his hat—there he rises!"

"Oh, go—go—go!" called Miss May to the man who stood wringing his hands and his face pale as the dead.

"I—I can't!" they heard him say.

"Man—man, are you going to leave the boy to drown?" cried the doctor in astonishment and indignation.

Mr. Parker advanced to the railing, looked over at the child struggling in the water and then threw up his hands with a groan and retreated. He even picked up the things he had cast off and almost ran from the wharf.

Splash! Splash! Splash! Three men leaped the railing, one after another, and, as the little lad was sinking for the third time, he was rescued, and there were tears, cheers and shouts of congratulation. The doctor and his daughter returned to their seats and sat for a long time without a word between them. Then the girl asked in a hesitating way:

"Was it because Mr. Parker can't swim?"

"He could have got the boy and hung to a spile until a boat came. Heavens, but if I had been in his place!"

"Then—then what ailed him? He seamed to be frightened."

"He was!" was the grim reply.

"Father, you can't mean——"

"But I do, dear. You have only to hear what the people around us are saying. Too bad. I feel sorry for him. He and his mother will have to go today."

A hundred people on the wharf had words of praise for the three men, and words of censure for the one. It is at such times that men curse in their throats and women refuse to forgive. A man is either recorded as a hero or a coward. If a hero, it is forgotten in a day; if a coward, not for years, if ever.

Mr. Parker hufried straight to the hotel. People who saw him in his flight looked and wondered. Mrs. Parker had not come out. The son burst into her room and flung himself down and covered his face with his hands and wept.

"What is it?" she asked as she stood beside him with her hand on his head.

"A child fell off the wharf," he answered after a time.

"And you were there?"

"I was the one to have leaped in after him."

"Poor boy! We should not have come to the water."

With that she turned away and commenced taking her garments down off the hooks and folding and packing them.

When the son could control his voice he stepped to the telephone and asked for his bill and ordered a carriage for the depot. Two hours later mother and son were on their way home. When they talked it was not of what had happened on the wharf.

"Don't you see he couldn't have done anything else?" queried Dr. Hargraves at lunch, when some one said that "the coward" had departed. "He passes out of our lives, of course."

And it so comes about. When the doctor again visited the safe deposit company he saw young Mr. Parker, but neither bowed. Some one else waited on the patron. People who had met the young man socially at the doctor's residence inquired about him in a careless way, and were as carelessly answered. Now and then the father wondered if the daughter had been interested enough to care or be disappointed, but he could not make up his mind. The affair had never been referred to again after the first day.

A whole year passed. Father and daughter were again bound for the same hotel, but this time they were motoring a part of the way, the car being driven by a chauffeur.

In the middle of the afternoon, on a broad highway, four foreigners who had struck work in a quarry not far away and were ripe for mischief, halted the auto to commit highway robbery. The chauffeur was a poltroon. He could have run them down, but he halted the machine.

The doctor was not armed, but he refused to leave the car, and struck at the fellows who sought to pull the daughter out. Such a one-sided conflict could not last long, and must terminate in a victory for the attackers. They were pushing the advantage of numbers when a second auto rolled up quietly behind them and a young man leaped out. Without any weapons but his bare fists he sailed into the four. They drew knives on him, but he struck one after another and fought fiercely and silently. The battle raged up and down the road for five minutes, and then the used-up men retreated to the woods.

The doctor and his daughter had watched it without a word. They knew the attacker, and they saw blood on his face and hands as he waved to them that the road was clear and walked back to his own machine.

"It is Mr. Parker!" whispered Miss May.

"Hanged if it isn't!" replied the father.

"But folks said he was a coward."

"Um! I was among those who said so. Guess we made a mistake somewhere."

"I—I hope so!"

"Eh? Eh? You hope what?"

The words were not repeated.

A week later, at the Harbor hotel, the doctor called his daughter into his room to say.

"I wrote to a friend of mine in the city and asked him to do me a favor. He had an interview with Mr. Parker's mother. Say, dear, while the public has a notion that your father is a great doctor, I want to admit to you that he is a great fool."

"Why, what is it?"

"I ought to have suspected something of the kind from the first. When Mr. Parker was a child of two his nurse let him fall into the water. He had a close call from drowning. It gave him a dread and a horror of the water, and it will always be with him. He's no coward. He simply fears the one thing. Plenty of cases like it. I'm writing him a very abject letter this afternoon. Don't you want to inclose something? If he'll be sensible and forget, I'll take him for a son-in-law about a year hence. Eh? Eh? That makes you blush, doesn't it? I believe you've been his champion right along!"

Mind and the Digestion.

The mind is an important factor in digestion. Controlling the secretions, without which the chemical processes of breaking down the food cannot take place, but digestion is also a physical process. The body at large is a machine and the stomach is a muscle, says a physician. If the motor activity of the stomach be weak, if the stomach be prolapsed, food will be unduly retained and putrefaction will be the result, poisoning the blood, and inducing dyspepsia rheumatism and kidney diseases especially. Relief of this condition has been sought by reducing the capacity of the stomach by taking a few stitches in it, causing it to empty more readily and fully. Rest in fasting, systematic exercise and light diet, with mental relaxation, are, however, the natural remedies.

Experienced.

"Pshaw!" scornfully ejaculated the fond mother. "What do you know about babies?"

"Very little," humbly acknowledged the bachelor who had ventured an opinion, "except that some years ago I had considerable practice as being one."—Puck.

GET CLOSER TO SUN

Waldberg's Simple Life Colony Does So by Being Nude.

Men and Women of Swiss Settlement Live Almost Without Clothing and Children Wear None—Say Nature So Intended.

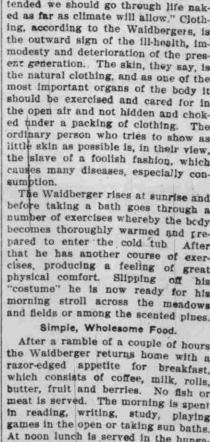

Zurich, Switzerland.—In one small section of Switzerland the residents go through heat wave, snow storm and northern blast with impartial calmness. The name of the colony is the "Lienbluftheim" (light and air home) and it is located on the Waldberg, overlooking the town of Zurich.

While in the town I heard reports of the thoroughness of the methods by which the residents in the Waldberg institution get right back to nature, so I decided to make arrangements for a closer study.

To my surprise I found the people of Zurich, though they have their prude societies, regarded the Waldbergers merely as local curiosities. They showed no desire for the imposition of restrictions. On telephoning to the head of the colony, Herr J. P. Muller, formerly an officer in the Danish army, I received a cordial invitation to go up and see for myself.

Herr Muller is a splendidly built man about 6 feet tall, showing the muscles of a boxer rather than a wrestler, tanned a dark brown from head to foot. He has an intelligent face and laughing eyes. Carl Block, the famous painter, described him as "physically the most perfect man I have ever seen," and I agreed with the description as I watched my companion striding along beside me.

"Come along," said he to me, "you will find all my friends at play." Presently we passed a large meadow where a score of Waldbergers—men, women and children—were engaged in a game of handball, while others stood round as spectators. The men and boys only were bathing pants; the women and girls were "dressed" in a short, single, loose decollete chemise—their sole garment—and the children were naked, while all dispensed with head and foot gear.

Waldbergers in Full Dress.

Not a "Crank" Collection.

Though I found the place interesting, the inmates were even more so. I was fully prepared to meet a fanatical set of freaks. I really met educated, refined men and women with a wide and cultured outlook on life. I am pledged to secrecy as to names—the only condition imposed upon me—but I may mention that the diplomatic, military and social circles of several European capitals were well represented in the colony.

The members of the colony hold that "Naked we were born into the world and therefore nature has intended we should go through life naked as far as climate will allow." Clothing, according to the Waldbergers, is the outward sign of the ill-health, immodesty and deterioration of the present generation. The skin, they say, is the natural clothing, and as one of the most important organs of the body it should be exercised and cared for in the open air and not hidden and choked under a packing of clothing. The ordinary person tries to show as little skin as possible is, in their view, the slave of a foolish fashion, which causes many diseases, especially consumption.

The Waldberger rises at sunrise and before taking a bath goes through a number of exercises whereby the body becomes thoroughly warmed and prepared to enter the cold tub. After that he has another course of exercises, producing a feeling of great physical comfort. Slipping off his "costume" he is now ready for his morning stroll across the meadows and fields or among the scented pines.

Simple, Wholesome Food.

After a ramble of a couple of hours the Waldberger returns home with a razor-edged appetite for breakfast, which consists of coffee, milk, rolls, butter, fruit and berries. No fish or meat is served. The morning is spent in reading, writing, study, playing games in the open or taking sun baths. At noon lunch is served in the bungalow. After breakfast there are only two meals a day—at noon, the principal meal, and at 6 o'clock, which is really tea. In the afternoon there are gymnastics and athletic sports of all kinds and, when the weather is fine, a bathing excursion is arranged to the little lake of Katzensee, a few miles away, or a picnic party to a quiet spot in the forest. At nightfall the Waldbergers return to their huts and after a bathing excursion is arranged to the beds, tired out.

900 DROPS

CASTORIA

ALCOHOL—3 PER CENT

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of

INFANTS CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral

NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER

Pumpkin Seed
Alx. Senna
Rochelle Salts
Anise Seed
Peppermint
Bi Carbonate Soda
Worm Seed
Clarified Sugar
Wintergreen Flavor

A perfect Remedy For Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY,
NEW YORK.

At 6 months old

35 DOSES—35 CENTS

Guaranteed under the Foods and Exact Copy of Wrapper.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Net Income

$3,000

From 28 Acres of California Land

The original price per acre was $40. Planted to peaches, plums, grapes and pears it yields $3,000 a year net, and would be cheap at $500 an acre.

This is only one example of what has been done in a climate that draws tourists from all over the world.

Union Pacific

Southern Pacific

Standard Route of the West

Electric Block Signals

For further facts and accurate information about California call on or address

GERRIT FORT, P. T. M.
U. P. R. R., 571 Farnam St.
OMAHA, NEB.

W. L. DOUGLAS HAND-SEWED SHOES

MEN'S $2.00, $2.50, $3.00, $3.50, $4.00, $5.00
WOMEN'S $2.50, $3, $3.50, $4
BOYS' $2.00, $2.50 & $3.00

THE STANDARD FOR 30 YEARS

They are absolutely the most popular best shoes for the price in America. They are the leaders everywhere because they hold their shape, fit better, look better and wear longer than other makes. They are positively the most economical shoes for you to buy. W. L. Douglas name and the retail price are stamped on the bottom—value guaranteed. TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE! If your dealer cannot supply you write for Mail Order Catalog. W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

The Wretchedness of Constipation

Can quickly be overcome by

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Purely vegetable—act surely and gently on the liver. Cure Biliousness, Headache, Dizziness, and Indigestion. They do their duty.

Small Pill, Small Dose, Small Price.

Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

FLORIDA VIEWS Magnificent Album scenes given free to every new subscriber to the handsomest illustrated weekly in the South. Covering every phase of Florida life it is invaluable to those who are interested in Florida and the tropics. Full of beautiful pictures, stories, history and current topics peculiar to Land of Flowers. 52 weeks $1.00. Send for sample copy.

THE FLORIDA RECORD
912 Realty Building, Jacksonville, Fla.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

SLIGHTLY DAMAGED, still serviceable. Household stoneware, carefully assorted. Full barrel lots only $1.00, shipped from Pittsburg. R. Seney & Co., Portland, Me.

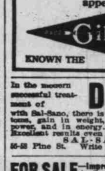

WHAT'S Your Health Worth?

You start sickness by mistreating nature and it generally shows first in the bowels and liver. A 10c box (week's treatment) of CASCARETS will help nature help you. They will do more—using them regularly as you need them—than any medicine on Earth. Get a box today; take a CASCARET tonight. Better in the morning. It's the result that makes millions take them.

CASCARETS 10c a box for a week's treatment, all druggists. Biggest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

MAKE YOUR OWN TILE

ONE MAN CAN MAKE 200 TO 400 PERFECT TILE A DAY WITH OUR PATENTED CEMENT TILE MACHINE at a cost of $15 to $25 per 1000. The only farm tile machine that does not require hand tamping; the only farmers' machine operated by either hand or power. Machine makes 3, 4, 5, 6 and 8 inch tile, 12½ inches long. Our Patented Water-Proof PLUNGER CASING holds tile in shape till set. No Pallets. No Trouble. TEN DAYS FREE TRIAL. If it does not meet with entire satisfaction, return at our expense. The price of the machine will be saved in making your first 2000 tile. Can't be Afford to Be Without It? Write today for illustrated catalogue, "Farmers' Cement Tile Machine Co., Box 17, St. Johns, Mich.

A man is judged by his appearance

Gillette

KNOWN THE WORLD OVER

In the recent successful treatment of

DIABETES

with Sal-Sano, there is rapid relief of all symptoms, gain in weight, in nerve and muscle power, and in energy. Without restricted diet. Excellent results even in stubborn cases. SAL-SANO CO.
25-28 Pine St. Write for booklet. New York

FOR SALE—Improved Farms and Farm Lands in Crawford Co., Mich., in good farming community, good climate, water, close to market towns, schools and railroad. Liberal terms. Largest apple orchard in Michigan near these lands. Write to HERBT A. HAGMAN, Grayling, Mich.

PISO'S

IS THE NAME OF THE BEST MEDICINE for COUGHS & COLDS

PLANTERS LOOSE LEAF WAREHOUSE

SPRINGFIELD, KY.

TANDY QUISENBERRY & CO., Proprietors.

DAILY AUCTION SALES — WELL LIGHTED SALES FLOOR

I solicit a part or all of your patronage and will guarantee that your interests will be carefully looked after Warehouse Near the Depot. TANDY QUISENBERRY, Manager.

STOP!

YOU CANNOT AFFORD TO PASS THIS WITHOUT READING!

The Meridian Life Insurance Co.,

OF INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

Writes a compound interest bond policy in which all values are absolutely guaranteed to the holder. Nothing guessed at. Pays 5 per cent. compound interest annually on amount paid in as a premium.

For instance at the age of 35 the first premium is $44 on $1000 insurance and the last payment you make or the 20th one is only $2.20, besides giving the policy holder the benefits of a great part of the earnings. It also carries a double Indemnity Clause. Call and investigate, it will cost you nothing and may save a home some day. Will write any kind of policy wanted. Thats with you.

DAVID R. LITSEY, Agent,

SPRINGFIELD, KY.

MULES Wanted

I will be in Springfield next Monday, Oct. 24---county court day---to buy 2-year-olds, yearlings and mule colts.

B. G. FOX

Everything For The Sick Room

Is to be had at this dependable drug store. Rubber goods of all kinds, sprays, douches, anti septic dressing, measuring glasses and a hundred others. It will be well for you to remember this if needed for any of such things should arise at your house. Don't go hunting all over town. Come right here where you know you can get what you so urgently need

Haydon & Willett

"THE PRESCRIPTION STORE"

There's Sure to Be Trouble

Whichever way you look if you think cheapness is the sole thing to be looked for when you purchase Clothing. The wise buyers look for quality first and price afterwards. Most of them come here because they have found that our qualities are always all right and our prices too.

Grundy & McIntire

RURAL TELEPHONES.

MR. FARMER:—Make your home as modern for your family as a city residence, and place yourself in a position to get the latest market quotations at any time. This can be accomplished by means of our telephone service, which you and your neighbors can get for a sum that is small compared with the benefits received. Call or address our nearest office or write direct to headquarters, Nashville, Tenn., for information regarding our special "FARMERS' LINE" rate. If you are not at present enjoying telephone service, we can immediately interest you. Our lines cover the States of Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana and the southern portion of Indiana and Illinois.

CUMBERLAND TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

(Incorporated)

PATENTS

Prize Offers from Leading Manufacturers

Book on patents. "Hints to inventors." "Inventions needed." "Why some inventors fail." Send rough sketch or model for search of Patent Office records. Our Mr. Greeley was formerly, Acting Commissioner of Patents, and as such had full charge of the U. S. Patent Office.

GREELEY & McINTIRE

PATENT ATTORNEYS

WASHINGTON, D. C.

SCIENCE HALL.

The farmers are taking advantage of the sunshine and are cutting corn and sowing wheat.

Mrs. Henry Crouch, who has been very sick for the past two weeks, is able to be out again

Messrs. Earl Cissel and Paul Keene were in our midst yesterday afternoon.

Miss Margaret Clarkson, who has been attending school at Lawrenceburg, spent the latter part of last week at home.

Bob Montgomery and family spent Saturday night with Miss Alice Linton and brother.

Frank Clarkson and Marshall Thompson made a flying trip to Lawrenceburg last Thursday.

Margie Walker spent Sunday with the Misses Clarkson.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Y. Goodlett went through here Saturday on their way to Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Brook Rudd spent Monday with the latter's mother, Mrs. W. P. Montgomery.

Prof. J. W. Bush paid the school at this place a visit last Thursday. We are always glad to have the Professor with us.

Messrs. Charley Litsey, Pete Shehan and Hugh Brown Gregory passed thro' here Sunday.

Several from this place attended the party given by Miss Emma Rose Polin, and report an enjoyable time.

Jesse Pile and family and Mr and Mrs. Ham Pile and family, of Booker, spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Luke Barlow, at this place.

Worse Than Bullets.

Bullets have often caused less suffering to soldiers than the eczema. L. W. Harriman, of Burlington, Me., got in the army, and suffered with forty years. "But Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me when all else failed," he writes. Greatest healer for sores, ulcers, boils, burns cuts, wounds, bruises and piles. 25c at Haydon & Robertson's.

HAPPY HOLLOW.

Erastus Perkins, wife and little daughter, Thelma, spent Saturday and Sunday with her father, John Armstrong, and family

Tolley Griffy and family, Jas. and Bennie Keeling and families, and Milton Shields were entertained by the family of J. M. Shields Saturday and Sunday

Misses Annie and Mattie Crooke spent last Tuesday night with Miss Myrtle Armstrong.

Rob Curtsinger spent Saturday night with his sister, Mrs. Lonnie Noel, near here.

Ollie Bishop and Miss Annie Crooke surprised their many friends Sunday by driving to Rev J. A. Sims and getting married. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Crooke, and the groom is the son of Mr and Mrs. B. H. Bishop. We wish them a long and happy married life.

Free Dyspepsia Sample

Sufferers from indigestion are waking up to the fact that peppermint lozenges, charcoal and "dyspepsia cures" are only makeshifts in the cure of so troublesome a complaint as chronic indigestion. What is required is something that will not only relieve but which will tone and train the digestive apparatus to again do its work normally, and this those alarming remedies cannot do.

There is something more to the cure of indigestion than sweetening the breath, and a remedy that only contains digestive ingredients will not cure permanently, as the basis of indigestion is poor bowel circulation, and that requires a scientific laxative. We know of no remedy that combines these requirements better than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which has been sold for a quarter of a century.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a laxative tonic, a scientific blending of natural ingredients for the cure of constipation, indigestion, liver trouble, sour stomach, sick headache and similar complaints. Its ingredients will so strengthen and tone the stomach and bowel muscles that they will again do their work naturally, and when that has been accomplished your trouble is over. Fannie Stuart, Staunton, Va., was a long-time sufferer, as was O. Tuck, Blackburn, Mo., and they both found their cure with this remedy. They became convinced that pills and tablets, salts, "dyspepsia cures," etc., were at best only temporary relief. They first accepted Dr. Caldwell's offer of a free sample bottle, which he willingly sends to anyone who forwards name and address. Later, having convinced themselves through the free sample, they bought Syrup Pepsin of their druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 8.500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Educational Rally.

An all day educational rally and teachers' association will be held at Mackville, Ky., Nov. 5, 1910. Every patron of Mackville public school is expected to be present. The teachers of the educational division are preparing for a great day. Matters of importance to the friends of education and for the educational uplift of the county will be discussed by able speakers.

Dinner will be served—

We hope many citizens will respond to the call for Washington county's educational awakening. The program is not complete yet, but we can announce the following:

10:00 a. m, Address of Welcome—Prof. D. V. Florence.

Address: "The Kentucky Boy,"—Ricketts Boulware.

Audress: "The Teacher."—Prof. Lynn Bush.

Address:—Prof. Geo. Colvin.

12:00 m.—Dinner.

1:30 p. m., Addres: "The Organization of County High Schools" and "The Organization of Graded Schools."—Supt. J. W Bush.

Round Table discussion of Washington county's needs, by teachers and citizens present.

Address:—Rev. J. L. Jones, of Shelby county.

Addresses and talks will be given by the teachers of Educational Division No. 5.

Special music.

The Call of the Blood.

For purification finds voice in pimples, boils, sallow complexion, a jaundiced look, moth patches and blotches on the skin,—all signs of liver trouble. But Dr. King's New Life Pills make rich red blood; give a clear skin, rosy cheeks fine complexion, health. Try them. 25c at Haydon & Robertson's.

HARDESTY.

Mrs. Mollie Williams and daughter, Mrs John Arnold, visited relatives in Anderson county last week.

Lucien Gregory recently bought of J. M. Sale one suckling colt for $60.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Goatley spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gray.

Miss Sarah Trent, of Chaplin, spent several days last week with her sister Mrs. Evan Crow, at Polin.

Several from this place attended the Gregory-Woodson wedding.

Richard Snider, wife and children, of Bloomfield, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Mollie Williams.

Miss Emma Rose Polin, was a guest of Miss Valeria Goodlett Tuesday.

John Neal, of Bloomfield, was in our midst one day last week selling jewelry.

Messrs. Ernest Gray and Herbert Hardesty spent Saturday night and Sunday with the latter's sister, Mrs. Walter Burriss, of Lebanon.

Willie Chesser, of Illinois, is back in old Kentucky for a visit.

Walter Lewis, wife and son, spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mrs. Molly Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Evan Sale and son, Rodman, of Mackville, spent Sunday with Mrs Eliza Mitchell.

SUBSCRIBERS FREE COLUMN.

Mrs. C. L. Mudd, Rt 2, has for sale thoroughbred Bronze Turkeys.

Alvah Perkins Rt. 3, has for sale 20 bushels of seed rye for 90c. per bushel.

Mrs. R. H. Langford, rt. 4, has for sale S. C. B. Leghorn roosters at 75c each. Also a few of Mrs. C. L. Brady's stock at 50c.

Mrs. Sam Tucker, rt. 1, has for sale Rhode Island Red cockerels and pullets, $1 each until Jan. 1.

Mrs. Irvine Lynch, Lebanon, Rt 3, has for sale Pure Bred Brown Leghon Cockerels and some nice hen.

Mrs. C. L. Brady, Rt 3, has for sale Barred Plymouth Rock Cockerels, $1.00 each.

$100 REWARD $100

The readers of this paper will be glad to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

DEEP CREEK.

John Elliott and daughter have returned to Danville, after spending a week with his married daughter, Mrs. Amy Carpenter.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Key had as their guests, last Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Bin Coyle.

Mrs. Mollie Coyle spent Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Laura Key.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Mathley were called to the bedside of Mr. Mathley's grandmother, who is very low, with pneumonia at this writing.

Several from this place attended the educational meeting held at East Texas last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Cocanougher were guests of Mrs. Cocanougher's father, John Isham, near Perryville, recently.

Peter Martin of Boyle county, spent last Friday with his daughter, Mrs. Belle Elliott.

Mrs. Josie Holderman spent Friday night with Mrs Ida Elliott.

Farmers are about through cutting corn and sowing wheat in this neighborhood.

Hoarseness in a child subject to croup is a sure indication of the approach of the disease. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given at once or even after the croupy cough has appeared, will prevent the attack. Contains no poison. Sold by all druggists.

The Demon of the Air.

Is the germ of la grippe; that, breathed in, brings suffering to thousands. Its after effects are weakness, nervousness, lack of appetite, energy and ambition, with disordered liver and kidneys. The greatest need then is Electric Bitters, the splendid tonic blood purifier and regulator of Stomach, Liver and Kidneys. Thousands have proved that they wonderfully strengthen the nerves, build up the system and restore health and good spirits after an attack of the Grip. If suffering try them. Only 50c. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed by Haydon & Robertson.

Taxes Must Be Paid

By December 1st. After that time the penalty will be added to all unpaid tax.

PAY NOW & SAVE MONEY.

S. J. ANDERSON, Sheriff

DR. HOAG'S Blood and Liver Restorative

A Liver Medicine and Blood Purifier

THE RELIABLE REMEDY for Rheumatism, Pimples, Blood and Skin Diseases

Strengthens the nerves, makes new rich blood, increases appetite. More people owe their health and strength to it than any other remedy. Don't wait, buy a bottle today.

SOLD BY HAYDON & ROBERTSON

Dr. W. F. Trusty,

Practical

Dentist,

SPRINGFIELD, KENTUCKY.

Dental work at reasonable prices. All work guaranteed.

Office over Haydon & Barber.

B. D. LAKE,

Insurance Agent,

SPRINGFIELD, - - KENTUCKY.

Life, Fire and Accident.

JOHN Y. MAYES,

Funeral Director

—And—

Licensed Embalmer,

SPRINGFIELD, - - KENTUCKY.

Best Attention. Every courtsey shown.

Handsome Line of Caskets and Burial Robes. Telephone: Day, 19: Night, 74.

DR. M. W. HYATT.

OFFICE OVER

THE RED CROSS DRUG STORE

SPRINGFIELD, KENTUCKY

OFFICE HOURS:

10:30 to 12 m. 4 to 5 p. m.

Dr. J. C. Mudd

SPRINGFIELD, - - KENTUCKY

OFFICE OVER C. J. HAYDON'S DRUG STORE

Office Hours: 8 to 9 A. M. 1 to 2 P. M.

J. H. LAMPTON, M. D.

SPRINGFIELD, KY.

Office in Opera House.

Office phone No. 5. Residence, No. 38

T. SCOTT MAYES,

ATTY-AT-LAW,

Springfield, Ky.

Will practice in the courts of Washington and adjoining counties, in the Court of Appeals and Federal Courts.

W. D. CLAYBROOKE,

ATTY-AT-LAW,

Springfield, Ky.

Will practice in the courts of Washington and adjoining counties and in the courts of Appeals.

MARSHALL DUNCAN,

—LAWYER—

Springfield, - - Ky.

Office in Robertson Building.

Will practice in the courts of Washington and adjoining counties and in court of Appeals.

S. M. CAMPBELL,

AUCTIONEER

Springfield, Ky.

Crying of public sales a specialty. Will go anywhere." Terms reasonable. 'Phone 84.

H. M. BRUSSELL

AUCTIONEER

Lebanon, Ky., Rt. 3.

Crying of public sales a specialty. Can cry sales anywhere cheaper than the cheapest. Phone 1 long 1 short Lebanon Exchange.